Irwin Dartmouth College US The opening up of world markets rapid growth of trade and foreign direct investment create manifold problems for competition policy Thus international mergers may have adverse effects on many countries international cartels may carve up world markets and dominant firms may seek to maintain their global position by exclusionary conduct These problems have been recognised for more than half a century and some attempts have been made internationally to address them so far with limited success This progressive book seeks to explore the problems and concerns that globalisation has created for competition policy The book begins by setting out the principles of competition and trade policies and then goes on to address the impact of market globalisation on what are usually thought of as traditional antitrust concerns These include the analysis of the difficulties arising from collusion and other restrictive practices government sponsored voluntary co operation vertical restrictions and market access pricing strategies of dominant firms and international mergers all illustrated with a number of prominent case studies The author concludes with an illuminating discussion on the feasibility of international co operation on competition policy the faltering progress that has been made so far and the prospects for future advances This comprehensive volume will prove to be an invaluable resource to students and scholars of law and economics It will also find wide appeal amongst researchers policy makers and practitioners with an interest in industrial organisation antitrust policy and globalisation

Regional State Aid and Competition Policy Fiona Wishlade,2003-01-01 The increasing importance attached to the economic and social cohesion of the European Union since the 1980s and the role of competition policy in achieving this objective has special significance for the control of regional aids given the general ban on State aid Regional aids are considered to have the potential to contribute to economic and social cohesion and to undermine its attainment The notion of competition policy as an instrument of economic and social cohesion has become a standard part of Commission rhetoric in defence of its actions This book is concerned with the influence of EU competition policy on the regional policies of the Member States It focuses on how the European Commission has interpreted the derogations from the State aid ban to enable the conduct of regional aid policies The book takes both a historical perspective tracing the evolution of policy and a thematic one examining in particular the relationship between EU competition and cohesion policies and the treatment of aid to very large projects The author clearly demonstrates that in reality the competition policy control of regional aids is of much longer standing than the community s explicit regional aid policy and in many respects of arguably greater influence She shows how competition policy has for almost thirty years shaped the design scope and implementation of national regional aid policies in no EU country has regional policy been unaffected by Commission intervention in the name of competition policy Moreover the policy principles developed for the EU now apply extraterritorially to members of the European Economic Area and to the current applicant countries The study s overall perspective is policy oriented It considers both the impact of Commission intervention in the past and the implications of policy for the future especially in the context of enlargement and a wider Europe It will be an invaluable resource for all policymakers and practitioners active in the fields of economic development regional policy and State aid law at European national and subnational levels

Social Citizenship in the Shadow of Competition Bronwen Morgan,2017-11-30 Social Citizenship in the Shadow of Competition explores how economic concepts and tools are reshaping regulatory law Building on studies that link law both institutionally and discursively to the legitimation of economic neo liberalism the book charts lawmakers attempts to justify social welfare regulation in the language imposed by economic theory It presents new qualitative findings from an ambitious regulatory reform programme targeting over 1 700 pieces of legislation Bronwen Morgan argues that the interplay between economic discourse and lawmaking does not destroy the possibility of social citizenship however the subsequent regulatory conversations frequently silence or weaken the claims of vulnerable groups Thus even when vulnerable groups secure instrumental success economic conceptions of bureaucratic rationality impoverish their capacity to express certain kinds of intangible values and aspirations To expand or retain social citizenship requires that we learn to conceive of what matters in political economy without relying on the logic of utility or other instrumental rationalities

The Future Development of Competition Framework Zongle Huang,Jiyuan Chen,2004-01-01 In the march of economic globalization it has become increasingly apparent that divergence in competition policy from one country to another is a major stumbling block

The Governance of Global Competition Oliver Budzinski, 2008-01-01 highly recommendable to anyone interested in international competition policy Arndt Christiansen European Competition Law Review This book provides a comprehensive and refreshing analysis of the competition issues raised by the globalisation of markets It draws on a very wide range of economic and legal sources to assess the manifold proposals for controlling the competitive forces released by the freeing up of world markets All those interested in these important and largely unresolved issues will find it an invaluable source of reference Michael A Utton University of Reading UK and Dongbei University of Finance and Economics Dalian China The globalization of market competition and business behaviour fosters globalization of cartels and monopolising mergers that can lead to abusive and predatory strategies The globalization of competition therefore also demands an internationalization of competition policy However Oliver Budzinski is realistic in his assertion that supranational competition governance must be built upon the existing predominantly national regimes The resulting multilevel system of antitrust institutions and authorities he argues is problematic for the horizontal and vertical allocation of competences This book employs the economics of federalism to create an analytical framework which can be used for comparative analysis of stylised competence allocation rules The result is a proposal for a sound international multilevel competition policy system that combines elements of both centralized and decentralized governance This book provides an innovative and unique perspective on international competition policy and will be of interest to economists legal scientists and competition authorities as well as academics and practitioners of international governance and international relations and politics The Enforcement of EU Competition Rules by Civil Law Nina Bucan Gutta, 2014-11-04 Private enforcement of competition law in particular through damages actions is recently one of the highly debated topics in European competition law Arguments for private enforcement are based on the EU principle of effectiveness while existing national substantive and procedural regimes applicable to damages may be ill suited for the effective enforcement of EU competition law However the risk that the introduction of enforcement oriented measures into national law is incompatible with private civil law is often underestimated or neglected This book aims to reconcile both EU enforcement and private law perspectives through a detailed study of the English and Slovenian private law systems Research on the compatibility of EU competition enforcement oriented measures with the private law regimes in England and Slovenia is used to argue that some changes to private law based on proposals for effective enforcement go too far and risk undermining the integrity of the Legal systems This book already takes into account the 2014 Directive on antitrust damages actions European Union Competition Policy versus Industrial Competitiveness Hikaru Yoshizawa, 2021-11-10 The book examines whether EU competition policy is applied fairly and consistently to EU and non EU firms despite persistent political pressure from member states for a relaxation of the rules and deals with the dilemma of regional organisations in the global political economy Focussing on the EU s desire to achieve balance between the promotion of market competition and the enhancement of international competitiveness the book explores the validity of its attempts successfully to ensure a stringent competition policy which is nationality blind and comparatively strict Finally it shows that the competition competitiveness dilemma remains unresolved because the EU s capability to set global regulatory standards is constrained by competition and the need to engage in multilateral forums such as the WTO and the International Competition Network This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of European Union studies EU competition law and policy EU external action and more broadly to global governance international political economy and international relations The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license New Competition Jurisdictions Richard Whish, Christopher Townley, 2012-01-01 The most thoughtful collection available of insights into the challenges facing new competition jurisdictions Whish and Townley have brought together experts on approaches global comparative and local combined with fresh interdisciplinary insights By combining law economics and political economy what emerges are pointed commentaries and a rich source of principles and pragmatism This book will guide the creators and enforcers of new competition law regimes Philip Marsden Director British Institute of International and Comparative Law and OFT Board Member This is a wonderful volume filled with good ideas It evolves from the Sixth Conference of ASCOLA the world association of competition law professors which asked a group of young scholars how new competition law systems can be made more effective and challenged the conference participants to interrogate the ideas the resulting book is an admirable collection of insightful papers and commentary For all who are interested in advancing younger competition law systems and their supporting academic communities this volume must be read Eleanor Fox New York University School of Law US This book focuses on the problems faced by newly established competition authorities and on shaping policies and building institutions in those jurisdictions In particular four key issues encountered by new competition jurisdictions are considered namely the challenges and obstacles to adopting competition laws institutional challenges and choices with a specific focus on deterrence the global perspective with a specific focus on mergers and a discussion of how to help young academics in new jurisdictions Theoretical analysis is informed by practice throughout and in particular by those considered to be at the cutting edge either working in new competition authorities or from specialists advising them on a daily basis such as those in the OECD and UNCTAD New Competition Jurisdictions will be of great interest to lawyers economists academics judges and public officials working in the fields of competition law and policy
