Decolonizing the Lens of Power Kerstin Knopf, 2008 This is the first book that comprehensively examines Indigenous filmmaking in North America as it analyzes in detail a variety of representative films by Canadian and US American Indigenous filmmakers two films that contextualize the oral tradition three short films and four dramatic films The book explores how members of colonized groups use the medium of film as a means for cultural and political expression and thus enter the dominant colonial film discourse and create an answering discourse The theoretical framework is developed as an interdisciplinary approach combining postcolonialism Indigenous studies and film studies As Indigenous people are gradually taking control over the imagemaking process in the area of film and video they cease being studied and described objects and become subjects who create self controlled images of Indigenous cultures The book explores the translatability of Indigenous oral tradition into film touching upon the changes the cultural knowledge is subject to in this process including statements of Indigenous filmmakers on this issue It also asks whether or not there is a definite Indigenous film practice and whether filmmakers tend to dissociate their work from dominant classical filmmaking adapt to it or create new film forms and styles through converging classical film conventions and their conscious violation This approach presupposes that Indigenous filmmakers are constantly in some state of reaction to Western ethnographic filmmaking and to classical narrative filmmaking and its epitome the Hollywood narrative cinema The films analyzed are The Road Allowance People by Maria Campbell Itam Hakim Hopiit by Victor Masayesva Talker by Lloyd Martell Tenacity and Smoke Signals by Chris Eyre Overweight With Crooked Teeth and Honey Moccasin by Shelley Niro Big Bear by Gil Cardinal and Atanarjuat The Fast Runner by Zacharias Kunuk

A New History of American and Canadian Folk Music Dick Weissman, 2019-09-05 Building on his 2006 book Which Side Are You On Dick Weissman's A New History of American and Canadian Folk Music presents a provocative discussion of the history evolution and current status of folk music in the United States and Canada North American folk music achieved a high level of popular acceptance in the late 1950s When it was replaced by various forms of rock music it became a more specialized musical niche fragmenting into a proliferation of musical styles In the pop folk revival of the 1960s artists were celebrated or rejected for popularizing the music to a mass audience In particular the music seemed to embrace a quest for authenticity which has led to endless explorations of what is or is not faithful to the original concept of traditional music This book examines the history of folk music into the 21st century and how it evolved from an agrarian style as it became increasingly urbanized Scholar performer Dick Weissman himself a veteran of the popularization wars is uniquely qualified to examine the many controversies and musical evolutions of the music including a detailed discussion of the quest for authenticity and how various musicians critics and fans have defined that pursuit English
