Statesmen and Mischief Makers: Scott Crass, 2015-08-31 Historically when sweeping policy changes or legislation of indelible consequence are signed into law Presidents receive the credit There is a good reason for that Without the Chief Executive putting his pen to paper these advancements would have nary a chance of becoming reality In most cases though a President's signature is simply the culmination of a long fight to make an idea or actual proposal a reality In fact quite often it is members of Congress who nurture proposals from inception to the President's desk Like a train leaving its first station the legislative process often starts with a handful of people on board until slowly a few more passengers hop on at each stop and before long there is a full car with people standing in the aisles Often times a bill becoming a law is no different     The American Jewish Archives Journal ,2002     The Jews of Capitol Hill Kurt F.
