The Hibernation Response Peter C. Whybrow, Robert Bahr, 1988 For the 25 percent of the human race that suffers from the Hibernation Response comes a self help book whose new theory goes beyond the much publicized Seasonal Affective Disorder The authors tell how to feel energetic and enthusiastic in the middle of winter The Hibernation Response Peter Whybrow, Robert Bahr, 1989 Annual Report, 1971 Lifting Depression Kelly Lambert, Kelly Lambert Ph D, 2010-10-08 Drawing on the latest findings from neuroscience as well as cultural observation and her own unique laboratory research psychologist Kelly Lambert puts forth a provocative new theory about the cause and treatment of depression Today's young adults are up to ten times more likely to experience depression than their grandparents were Could it be that in our increasingly automated world the reduced physical effort needed to accomplish anything may somehow interfere with our level of happiness and subsequent responses to stress Neuroscientist Kelly Lambert finds compelling evidence that having to work hard for rewards significantly improves mood and prevents depression Beginning with her innovative research on rats she compared trust fund rats whose rewards came with no effort on their part to hard working trained to succeed rodents Lambert offers hope of treatment for people without debilitating and often ineffective drugs Drawing on a wealth of information from the fields of anthropology neuroscience and evolutionary psychology Lambert develops a unique theory suggesting that physical effort directed toward tangible outcomes activates particular regions of the brain and builds resilience against the emotional emptiness and negative thinking associated with depression Whereas most therapies emphasize the importance of mental activity Lambert reminds us of the importance of physical activity in establishing control in a fast paced culture that is focused more on the prospect of immediate gratification than savoring the fruits of our labor Metabolism and Behaviour, 1978-09-19 Mechanisms of Life History Evolution Thomas Flatt, Andreas Heyland, 2011-05-12 This interdisciplinary volume unites evolutionary and molecular biologists from various fields life history theory molecular biology developmental biology aging phenotypic plasticity social behaviour and endocrinology who use studies of molecular mechanisms to solve fundamental questions in life history evolution in a variety of organisms Depressive Illness Tim Cantopher, 2020-11-26 People affected by depression tell me this is the most powerful and helpful book ever written on the topic I keep meeting people who say this book changed their lives Jeremy Vine BBC Radio 2 Do you have depression Firstly stop blaming yourself Secondly don't struggle on alone read this book instead It has helped thousands of people just like you Dr Tim Cantopher knows two essential truths about depression and depressive illness One it's strong people who are most vulnerable to it people whose standards are high whose ethics are powerful who want their lives to be meaningful Strong people like you Two depression is a physical illness and this book explains just that Depressive Illness will explain all the above in detail and more importantly give you effective ways to get well and stay well It covers symptoms what to do when you get ill medication recovery lifestyle changes psychotherapy and problem solving skills

Living in a Seasonal World Thomas Ruf, Claudia Bieber, Walter Arnold, Eva Millesi, 2012-04-23 This book summarises the newest information on seasonal adaptation in animals Topics include animal hibernation daily torpor thermoregulation heat production metabolic depression biochemical adaptations neurophysiology and energy balance The contributors to this book present interdisciplinary research at multiple levels ranging from the molecular to the ecophysiological as well as evolutionary approaches The chapters of this book provide original data not published elsewhere which makes it the most up to date comprehensive source of information on these fields The book's subchapters correspond to presentations given at the 14th International Hibernation Symposium in August 2012 in Austria This is a very successful series of symposia held every four years since 1959 that attracts leading researchers in the field Like the past symposia this meeting and consequently the book is aimed not only at hibernation but at covering the full range of animal adaptations to seasonal environments For the next four years this book will serve as the cutting edge reference work for graduate students and scientists active in this field of physiology and ecology     Seasonal Patterns of Stress, Immune Function, and Disease Randy J. Nelson, Gregory E.

Demas, Sabra L. Klein, Lance J. Kriegsfeld, 2002-03-25 This book presents evidence that infection is cyclical with the seasons and that this phenomenon is mirrored in cycles of immune function The book identifies the mechanisms by which immune systems are bolstered to counteract seasonally recurrent stressors such as extreme temperature reductions and food shortages Stress infectious diseases autoimmune diseases and human cancers are examined and the role of hormones such as melatonin and glucocorticoids is considered The book begins with an overview of seasonality biological rhythms and photoperiodism and basic immunology and then discusses seasonal fluctuations in disease prevalence immune function and energetics and endocrinology as they relate to immune function The clinical significance of this issue is also addressed as such seasonal changes may play an important role in the development and treatment of infections This first monograph to examine seasonal immune function from an interdisciplinary perspective will serve practitioners as well as advanced undergraduates and graduate students in biology immunology human and veterinary medicine neuroscience endocrinology and zoology     The Stress Response of Critical Illness: Metabolic and Hormonal Aspects Jean-Charles Preiser, 2016-03-24

This book demonstrates how the latest insights into the physiopathology of the stress response can be integrated into clinical practice The topic is particularly relevant since the metabolic changes triggered by acute stress including adaptive responses such as resistance to anabolic signals have recently been more precisely delineated The underlying mechanisms of these changes are also now better understood The authors analyse how these advances could result in better management and more effective prevention of the long term clinical consequences of the alterations occurring during the acute phase An international panel of respected experts discusses these topics and describes the management of some common clinical conditions     Strategies in Cold Lawrence C.H. Wang, 2012-12-02 Strategies in Cold Natural Torpidity and Thermogenesis is a collection of review papers presented at the Fifth International Symposium on Mammalian Hibernation held at Jasper Park Lodge Alberta Canada on October 3 8 1977 The book is organized into four sections encompassing 20 chapters that cover the advances made since the 1971 symposium in the areas of molecular biochemical and cellular adaptations of natural torpidity and the role of the central nervous system in regulation of natural torpidity The opening section discusses the possible ways of generating circannual cycle in constant condition and the historical progress in understanding the mechanism of shallow daily torpor and its distribution in various families predominantly from the marsupial insectivore and rodent orders The application of simple economic models to biological systems to illustrate the principles of torpor in non mammalian organisms and temperature regulation is also described in this text Section II examines the central nervous structures involved in thermoregulation in hibernators and compares these data with the results of corresponding experiments in non hibernators Topics on the influence of serotonergic pathways in the brain on hypothalamic hormonal factor release and the maintenance and regulation of hibernation through a parasympathetic response are discussed in this section Section III deals with the cellular and biochemical adaptations in natural torpidity with an emphasis on the metabolic and endocrine changes in hibernation Section IV tackles postulated mechanisms for nonshivering thermogenesis and the neurohumoral factors regulating these mechanisms in mammals exposed to short term as well as to prolonged periods of cold A discussion on significance and possible central mechanisms of thermoregulatory threshold deviations in the course of thermal adaptation is also provided
