Traduction Harald Kittel, Juliane House, Brigitte Schultze, 2004 This series of HANDBOOKS OF LINGUISTICS AND COMMUNICATION SCIENCE is designed to illuminate a field which not only includes general linguistics and the study of linguistics as applied to specific languages but also covers those more recent areas which have developed from the increasing body of research into the manifold forms of communicative action and interaction For classic linguistics there appears to be a need for a review of the state of the art which will provide a reference base for the rapid advances in research undertaken from a variety of theoretical standpoints while in the more recent branches of communication science the handbooks will give researchers both an overview and orientation Translating Others (Volume 2) Theo Hermans, 2014-07-16 Both in the sheer breadth and in the detail of their coverage the essays in these two volumes challenge hegemonic thinking on the subject of translation Engaging throughout with issues of representation in a postmodern and postcolonial world Translating Others investigates the complex processes of projection recognition displacement and othering effected not only by translation practices but also by translation studies as developed in the West At the same time the volumes document the increasing awareness the the world is peopled by others who also translate often in ways radically different from and hitherto largely ignored by the modes of translating conceptualized in Western discourses The languages covered in individual contributions include Arabic Bengali Chinese Hindi Irish Italian Japanese Latin Rajasthani Somali Swahili Tamil Tibetan and Turkish as well as the Europhone literatures of Africa the tongues of medieval Europe and some major languages of Egypt s five thousand year history Neighbouring disciplines invoked include anthropology semiotics museum and folklore studies librarianship and the history of writing systems Contributors to Volume 2 Paul Bandia Red Chan Sukanta Chaudhuri Annmarie Drury Ruth Evans Fabrizio Ferrari Daniel Gallimore Hephzibah Israel John Tszpang Lai Kenneth Liu Szu han Ibrahim Muhawi Martin Orwin Carol O Sullivan Saliha Parker Stephen Quirke and Kate Sturge

Reinventing Babel in Medieval French Emma Campbell, 2023-09-09 How can untranslatability help us to think about the historical as well as the cultural and linguistic dimensions of translation For the past two centuries theoretical debates about translation have responded to the idea that translation overcomes linguistic and cultural incommensurability while never inscribing full equivalence More recently untranslatability has been foregrounded in projects at the intersections between translation studies and other disciplines notably philosophy and comparative literature The critical turn to untranslatability re emphasizes the importance of translation s negotiation with foreignness or difference and prompts further reflection on how that might be understood historically philosophically and ethically If translation never replicates a source exactly what does it mean to communicate some elements and not others What or who determines what is translatable or what can or cannot be recontextualized What linguistic political cultural or historical factors condition such determinations Central to these questions is the way translation negotiates with and inscribes asymmetries among languages and cultures operations that are inevitably ethical and political as well as linguistic This book explores how approaching questions of translatability and untranslatability through premodern texts and languages can inform broader interdisciplinary conversations about translation as a concept and a practice Working with case studies drawn from the francophone cultures of Flanders England and northern France it explores how medieval texts challenge modern definitions of language text and translation and in so doing how such texts can open sites of variance and non identity within what later became the hegemonic global languages we know today
