Politics of Knowledge, 2003 The Politics of East European Area Studies Gareth Dale, Katalin Miklossy, Dieter Segert, 2017-09-13 Following the end of the Cold War and European Union enlargement in what sense does Eastern Europe continue to exist as a meaningful geo political concept In addressing this question contributors to this volume Alex Cistelean Robert Bideleux Katalin Mikl ssy and Dieter Segert tease out the implications for an Area Studies approach to the region They examine its contradictory situation within discourses of orientalisation on one hand posited as the underdeveloped pendant to its western neighbours on the other largely Christian by religion and an integral part of a continent that dominated the world They uncover the roots of area studies in the colonial paradigm by which great powers promote the creation of predictive problem solving knowledge that is immediately apprehendable for decision makers helping them to take advantage of a region s resources and strategic position but which tends to homogenise the region s geography and history For critical inquiry they argue the challenge is to delineate transparently the reasons underlying Eastern Europe s construction as an area of study to identify the epistemological interests of motivated organisations such as funding agencies and political bodies and to counter the ongoing orientalism of Western perspectives toward the East This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary Central and Eastern Europe

The Rebirth of Area Studies Zoran Milutinovic, 2019-12-12 Area Studies became increasingly common after World War II as a means of responding to perceived external threats from the Soviet Union and China After the Cold War and in the face of increasingly rapid globalisation it seemed inevitable that Area Studies institutionally and intellectually would slowly degenerate But this has not been the case and there has recently been a resurgence of interest in it as an effective and positive research paradigm Responding to this renewed interest this book brings together an esteemed group of contributors at the cutting edge of the field to consider the state of Area Studies today and its prospects for the future The Rebirth of Area Studies demonstrates that numerous aspects of the research paradigm in fact recommend it as well suited for the present moment and the challenges posed by globalisation both as a means to overcome disciplinary limitations and to increase self reflexivity Area Studies research is grounded in place specific knowledge yet by definition it transcends nation as the basic unit of analysis and thus empowers comparative and trans national approaches This book outlines a new critical Area Studies for the 21st century self reflexive aware of its limitations and conscious of its origins in geopolitical strategic or ideological considerations and is essential reading for historians geographers and political scientists

Racializing Humankind: Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Practices of 'Race' and Racism Julian T. D. Gärtner, Malin Wilckens, 2022-02-14 Debates on historical and contemporary racism have recently become the subject of increasing public interest The Black Lives Matter movement as well as the Covid 19 pandemic have underlined the importance and urgent necessity of examining racism in society from a multidisciplinary angle The many facets of racism in the past and present also challenge the way we deal with history historical culture in a globalized world Rather than focusing on the history of ideas and its discursive development this volume will focus on the practices of actors It examines how and which practices especially practices of comparing are constitutive in the construction of race and manifestations of racism This edited volume brings together interdisciplinary contributions from history sociology political science American studies literary studies and media studies An important focus lies on the social asymmetries created by racialization including inequalities and violence The chapters foreground historical and contemporary practices of racism and discuss their appearance in different epochs and locations

Constructing 'Pakistan' through Knowledge Production in International Relations and Area Studies Ahmed W. Waheed, 2019-11-02 This book analyses the discourse on Pakistan by exploring the knowledge production processes through which the International Relations community Asian and South Asian area study centres and think tanks construct Pakistan's identity This book does not attempt to trace how Pakistan has been historically defined explained or understood by the International Relations interpretive communities or to supplant these understandings with the author's version of what Pakistan is Instead this study focuses on investigating how the identity of Pakistan is fixed or stabilized via practices of the interpretive communities In other words this book attempts to address the following questions How is the knowledge on Pakistan produced discursively How is this knowledge represented in the writings on Pakistan What are the conditions under which it is possible to make authoritative claims about Pakistan

Observing the Observer Zahid Bukhari, Sulayman Nyang, 2012-01-01 THE collection of papers in this volume documents the study of Islam in American Universities Over the last few decades the United States has seen significant growth in the study of Islam and Islamic societies in institutions of higher learning fueled primarily by events including economic relations of the U S with Muslim countries migration of Muslims into the country conversion of Americans to Islam U S interests in Arab oil resources involvement of Muslims in the American public square and the tragic events of 9 11 Although there is increasing recognition that the study of Islam and the role of Muslims is strategically essential in a climate of global integration multiculturalism and political turmoil nevertheless the state of Islamic Studies in America is far from satisfactory The issue needs to be addressed particularly as the need for intelligent debate and understanding is continuously stifled by what some have termed an Islam industry run primarily by fly by journalists think tank pundits and cut and paste experts
