Constituent and Pattern in Poetry Archibald A. Hill, 2014-07-03 Constituent and Pattern in Poetry is a collection of essays on literature and language It is built on the assumption that works of literature have existence in the real world and that they may be analyzed in a fashion that is not totally subjective Using models derived from structural linguistics Archibald A Hill presents a number of theoretical contributions to the study of poetry as well as new ways of looking at specific poems The book as a whole provides an overview of the tools and ideas Hill has developed for analyzing works of literature and it is the first time the essays have been gathered together in one volume The book is divided into three sections Definition of Literature and Study of Its Patterns Types of Meaning and Imagery and Principles for Interpreting Meaning Each section opens with a theoretical essay followed by three essays that work analytically with specific poets and poems using the methods defined in the first In his examination of such poets as Hopkins Browning Milton Blake Keats and Dickinson Hill uses such proposals as the law of least lexical contribution and maximal contextual contribution the hypothesis that when possible meanings occur together in a cluster they support each other and the idea that it is sometimes possible to recover underlying language sequences from which the author has departed for identifiable reasons By applying these suppositions to the study of particular poems Hill shows how the reader may arrive at statements about the relative artistic merit of works of literature

Stylistics and the Teaching of Literature H.G. Widdowson, 2014-06-06 This volume forms part of the Applied Linguistics and Language Study collection that looks at the field of analysing and appreciating literary texts First published in 1975 this text makes a considerable contribution to extending our view of the principles underlying language teaching and curriculum design The author begins by distinguishing the idea that discipline from the pedagogic subject in order to demonstrate that stylistics is Janus like in the way it can be treated for example at school or university as a way from linguistics to literary study or the reverse To understand this bidirectionality he explains distinctions between the linguist s text and the critic s messages by introducing the concept of discourse as a means through which to understand the communicative value of passages of language
