Divided Subjects, Invisible Borders Ben Gook, 2015-09-21 What do Germany s memorials films artworks memory debates and national commemorations tell us about the lives of Germans today How did the Wall in the Head come to replace the Wall that fell in 1989 The old identities of East and West which all but dissolved in joyous embraces as the Berlin Wall fell emerged once more after formal re unification a year later in 1990 2015 marks the twenty fifth anniversary of that German re unification Yet Germany remains divided a mutual distrust lingers and national history remains contentious The material social cultural and psychic effects of re unification on the lives of eastern and western Germans since 1989 all demand again asking fundamental questions about history social change and ideology Divided Subjects Invisible Borders puts

Photography and Collaboration Daniel Palmer,2020-09-14 Photography and Collaboration offers a fresh perspective on existing debates in art photography and on the act of photography in general Unlike conventional accounts that celebrate individual photographers and their personal visions this book investigates the idea that authorship in photography is often more complex and multiple than we imagine involving not only various forms of partnership between photographers but also an astonishing array of relationships with photographed subjects and viewers Thematic chapters explore the increasing prevalence of collaborative approaches to photography among a broad range of international artists from conceptual practices in the 1960s to the most recent digital manifestations Positioning contemporary work in a broader historical and theoretical context the book reveals that collaboration is an overlooked but essential dimension of the medium s development and potential

Contemporary French Art: Eleven studies Michael Bishop,2008 Ben Vautier Niki De Saint Phalle Fran ois Morellet Louise Bourgeois Alexandre Hollan Claude Viallat Sophie Calle Bernard Pag s Jean Pierre

Pincemin Annette Messager Gérard Titus Carmel eleven major French artists of the last forty years or so examined in the light of their uniqueness and their rootedness the specificities of their differing and at times overlapping plastic practices and the swirling and often highly hybridised conceptions entertained in regard to such practices Thus does analysis range from discussion of the feisty Fluxus inspired free spirited funkiness of Ben Vautier's work to the various modes of transcendence of trauma and haunting fear generated by the exceptional gestures of Niki de Saint Phalle and Louise Bourgeois to the alyrical formalism yet imbued with irony and ludicity of François Morellet through to the serene intensities of Alexandre Hollan's vies silencieuses the infinite a signatures of Claude Viallat's adventure in the sheer joy of a poiein of self reflexive coloration the powerfully elegant and muscular disarticulations of Bernard Pag's sculpture the great sweep through art's history implied by Jean Pierre Pincemin's chameleon like gestures the vast swirling programme of socio psychological analysis the arts of Annette Messager and Sophie Calle offer in their radically distinctive manners the obsessively serialised oeuvre of Gérard Titus Carmel allowing a burrowing deep into the opaque logic of a real though dubious presence to the world

Phantom Images Catherine Smale, 2013 Ghosts have made an unexpected reappearance in German literature since 1989 Catherine Smale reads this as symptomatic of writers attempts to renegotiate their personal and collective identity in the wake of German reunification Focusing on two major authors from the former GDR Christa Wolf and Irina Liebmann Smale examines the ways in which their work adopts notions of haunting in its creative engagement with the double legacy of Socialism and National Socialism The ghost has long been regarded as a vehicle for making manifest taboo or unauthorized memories However Smale goes further demonstrating how the human subject is destabilized by the return of the phantom and is itself rendered insecure and spectral Drawing on a wide range of theoretical reference from the psychoanalytic concept of intergenerational phantoms to Derridean hauntology Smale's study highlights the particular challenge which Wolf and Liebmann pose to the familiar understanding of how German writers have confronted their country's troublesome past Catherine Smale is Lecturer in German at King's College London

Women and the Material Culture of Death Beth Fowkes Tobin, 2017-07-05 Examining the compelling and often poignant connection between women and the material culture of death this collection focuses on the objects women make the images they keep the practices they use or are responsible for and the places they inhabit and construct through ritual and custom Women's material practices ranging from wearing mourning jewelry to dressing the dead stitching memorial samplers to constructing skull boxes collecting funeral programs to collecting and studying diseased hearts making and collecting taxidermies and making sculptures honoring the dead are explored in this collection as well as women's affective responses and sentimental labor that mark their expected and unexpected participation in the social practices surrounding death and the dead The largely invisible work involved in commemorating and constructing narratives and memorials about the dead from family members and friends to national figures calls attention to the role women as memory keepers for families local communities and the nation Women have tended to work collaboratively making collecting and sharing objects that conveyed sentiments about the deceased whether human or animal as well as the identity of mourners Death is about loss and many of the mourning practices that women have traditionally and are currently engaged in are about dealing with private grief and public loss as well as working to mitigate the more general anxiety that death engenders about the impermanence of life
