Goddu, 2020-03-13 Beginning with its establishment in the early 1830s the American Anti Slavery Society AASS recognized the need to reach and consolidate a diverse and increasingly segmented audience To do so it produced a wide array of print material and visual media almanacs and slave narratives pincushions and gift books broadsides and panoramas Building on the distinctive practices of British antislavery and evangelical reform movements the AASS utilized innovative business strategies to market its productions and developed a centralized distribution system to circulate them widely In Selling Antislavery Teresa A Goddu shows how the AASS operated at the forefront of a new culture industry and by framing its media as cultural commodities made antislavery sentiments an integral part of an emerging middle class identity She contends that although the AASS's dominance waned after 1840 as the organization splintered it nevertheless created one of the first national mass markets Goddu maps this extensive media culture focusing in particular on the material produced by AASS in the decade of the 1830s She considers how the dissemination of its texts objects and tactics was facilitated by the quasi corporate and centralized character of the organization during this period and demonstrates how its institutional presence remained important to the progress of the larger movement Exploring antislavery's vast archive and explicating its messages she emphasizes both the discursive and material aspects of antislavery's appeal providing a richly textured history of the movement through its artifacts and the modes of circulation it put into place Featuring more than seventy five illustrations Selling Antislavery offers a thorough case study of the role of reform movements in the rise of mass media and argues for abolition's central importance to the shaping of antebellum middle class culture A List of New York Almanacs, 1694-1850, 1921 Quiggin's Isle of Man almanack, 1875 A Manual of American Literature Theodore Stanton, 1909 This book has been prepared for publication as No 4000 a Memorial Volume of the Tauchnitz Edition Perhaps it may be well to explain to American readers what the Tauchnitz Edition is and what a Memorial Volume is in this collection The Collection of British Authors or as it is more popularly known on the European Continent the Tauchnitz Edition was instituted in 1841 at Leipsic by one of the most distinguished of German publishers the late Baron Bernhard Tauchnitz whose son is now at the head of the house The father records that he was incited to the undertaking by the high opinion and enthusiastic fondness which I have ever entertained for English literature a literature springing from the selfsame root as the literature of Germany and cultivated in the beginning by the same Saxon race As a German Saxon it gave me particular pleasure to promote the literary interest of my Anglo Saxon cousins by rendering English literature as universally known as possible beyond the limits of the British Empire In another place Baron Tauchnitz describes the mission of his Collection to be the spreading and strengthening the love for
