From Birdwomen to Skygirls

Fred Erisman, 2009-11-30 Close on the heels of the American public's early enthusiasm over the airplane came aviation stories for the young From 1910 until the early 1960s they exalted flight and painted the airplane as the most modern and adventuresome of machines Most of the books were directed at boys however a substantial number sought a girl's audience Erisman's account of several aviation series and other aviation books for girls fills a gap in the history and criticism of American popular culture It examines the stories of girls who took to the sky of the sources where authors found their inspiration and of the evolution of aviation as an enterprise open to all From the heady days of early aviation through the glory days of commercial air travel girls' aviation books trace American women's participation in the field They also reflect changes in women's roles and status in American society as the sex sought greater equality with men As aviation technology improved the birdwomen of the pre World War I era capable and independent minded gave way to individualistic 1930s adventurers patterned on Amelia Earhart Jacqueline Cochran and other feminine notables of the air Their stories lead directly into the coming of commercial air travel Career stories paint the increasingly glamorous world of the 1940s and 1950s airline stewardess the unspoken assumptions lying behind that profession and the inexorable effects of technological and economic change By recovering these largely forgotten books and the social debates surrounding women's flying Erisman makes a substantial contribution to aviation history women's history and the study of juvenile literature This first comprehensive study of a long overlooked topic recalls aviation experiences long past and poses provocative questions about Americans' attitudes toward women and how those attitudes were conveyed to the young

Realizing the Dream of Flight

Virginia Parker Dawson, Mark D. Bowles, 2005

Taking Flight Kristen Alexander, 2016-03-01 From her first taste of the air when she joined Bert Hinkler in the cockpit for a joy ride in 1928 Lores Bonney was hooked With her aviation licence and the support of her husband she took to Australian and international skies and braved the challenge of long distance flying Taking

Flight draws from the National Library of Australia's rich archives and manuscript collection to present the tale of Lores Bonney the first woman to circumnavigate the Australian continent by air the first woman acknowledged to fly from Australia to England and the first solo pilot to fly from Australia to Cape Town South Africa Aviation writer Kristen Alexander intimately illuminates the woman behind the audacious pilot exploring her highs and lows and struggle to gain and maintain her place as one of Australia's great aviation pioneers
