Technological Choices Transformation In Material Cultures Since The Neolithic:

Technological Choices Pierre Lemonnier, 2002 Technological Choices deals with the adoption or rejection by a society of certain technological innovations. It demonstrates that in any society such choices result from cultural values and social relations rather than inherent benefits in the technology itself and highlights revolutionary viewpoint has crucial implications for current Western societies. The book is based on case studies covering a wide chronological and geographic span from Neolithic Europe to the modern industrial age from the tribes of Papua New Guinea India and North Africa to European peasant communities. The techniques studied range from the manufacture of stone implements to the development of high tech transportation devices. Technological Choices will be of great interest to students of archaeology and anthropology and the history of technology. It will also be valuable reading for economists and social historians.

Material Encounters and Indigenous Transformations in the Early Colonial Americas, 2019-04-09 Material Encounters and Indigenous Transformations in the Early Colonial Americas brings together 15 archaeological case studies that offer new perspectives on colonial period interactions in the Caribbean and surrounding areas through a specific focus on material culture and indigenous agency.

Reconstruction, Replication and Re-enactment in the Humanities and Social Sciences Sven Dupré, Anna Harris, Julia Kursell, Patricia Lulof, Maartje Stols-Witlox, 2025-10-01 Performative methods are playing an increasingly prominent role in research into historical production processes materials bodily knowledge and sensory skills and in forms of education and public engagement in classrooms and museums. This book offers for the first time sustained interdisciplinary reflections on performative methods variously known as Reconstruction Replication and Re enactment RRR practices across the fields of history of science archaeology art history conservation musicology and anthropology. Each of these fields has distinct histories approaches tools and research questions. Researchers in the historical disciplines have used reconstructions to learn about the materials and practices of the past while anthropologists and ethnographers have more often studied the re enactments themselves participating in these performances as engaged observers. In this book authors bring their experiences of RRR practices within their discipline into conversation with RRR practices in other disciplines providing a basis for interdisciplinary cross fertilization.

The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology of Ritual and Religion Timothy Insoll, 2011-10-28 The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology of Ritual and Religion provides a comprehensive overview by period and region of the relevant archaeological material in relation to theory methodology definition and practice. Although as the title indicates the focus is upon archaeological investigations of ritual and religion by necessity ideas and evidence from other disciplines are also included among them anthropology ethnography religious studies and history. The Handbook covers a global span Africa Asia Australasia Europe and the Americas and reaches from the earliest prehistory the Lower and Middle Palaeolithic to modern times. In addition chapters focus upon relevant themes ranging from landscape to death from taboo to water from gender to rites of passage from ritual to fasting and feasting Written by over sixty specialists renowned in their respective fields the Handbook presents the very best in current scholarship and will serve both as a comprehensive introduction to its subject and as a stimulus to further research The Archaeology of Etruscan Society Vedia Izzet, 2007-12-13 The late sixth century was a period of considerable change in Etruria this change is traditionally seen as the adoption of superior models from Greece In a re alignment of agency this book examines a wide range of Etruscan material culture mirrors tombs sanctuaries houses and cities in order to demonstrate the importance of local concerns in the formation of Etruscan material culture Drawing on theoretical developments the book emphasises the deliberate nature of the smallest of changes in material culture form and develops the concept of surface as a unifying key to understanding the changes in the ways Etruscans represented themselves in life and death This concept allows a uniquely holistic approach to the archaeology of Etruscan society and has the potential for other archaeological investigations The book will interest all scholars and students of classical archaeology Handbook of Material Culture Christopher Y. Tilley, 2006-01-26 Provides a critical survey of the theories concepts intellectual debates substantive domains and traditions of study characterizing the analysis of things This handbook charts an interdisciplinary field of studies that makes a fundamental contribution to an understanding of what it means to be human The Oxford Handbook of Archaeological Ceramic Analysis Alice M. W. Hunt, 2017 This volume draws together topics and methodologies essential for the socio cultural mineralogical and geochemical analysis of archaeological ceramic one of the most complex and ubiquitous archaeomaterials in the archaeological record It provides an invaluable resource for archaeologists anthropologists and archaeological materials scientists Objects and Materials Penny Harvey, Eleanor Conlin Casella, Gillian Evans, Hannah Knox, Christine McLean, Elizabeth B. Silva, Nicholas Thoburn, Kath Woodward, 2014-07-16 There is broad acceptance across the Humanities and Social Sciences that our deliberations on the social need to take place through attention to practice to object mediated relations to non human agency and to the affective dimensions of human sociality This Companion focuses on the objects and materials found at centre stage and asks what matters about objects Objects and Materials explores the field providing succinct summary accounts of contemporary scholarship along with a wealth of new research investigating the capacity of objects to shape unsettle and exceed expectations Original chapters from over forty international interdisciplinary contributors address an array of objects and materials to ask what the terms of collaborations with objects and materials are and to consider how these collaborations become integral to our understandings of the complex relational dynamics that fashion social worlds Objects and Materials will be of interest to students and scholars across the social sciences and humanities including in sociology social theory science and technology studies history anthropology archaeology gender studies women s studies geography cultural studies politics and international relations and philosophy
