Television At The Crossroads:

Television at the Crossroads Alessandro Mendini, Andrea Branzi, Stefano Marzano, 1995-05-15 Where is television going and what shall we as viewers be seeing in the future These and other questions are addressed by the contributors to this book Each author focuses on different aspects of television approaching the topic from his or her own area of expertise The book does not aim to find definitive answers but presents what may perhaps be described as a collection of musings meditations or brainstormings

Television at the Crossroads: an Examination of Television's Role in a Free Society Arthur J. Griffin, David B. Gross, Paul J. Grim, Randall Gover, Susan B. Graves, 1963 Television at the Crossroads: an Examination of Television's Role in a Free Society Randall Gover, 1963 Television at the Crossroads G. Wedell, B. Luckham, 2001-06-11 Television had until recently a social and cultural purpose The BBC and to a lesser extent ITV and Channel 4 were committed by the legal instruments establishing them to develop and maintain these purposes With the enlargement of the range of choices for viewers by digital television and the provision of access to cable and satellite TV and the Internet the role of the terrestrial television channels is being diluted The authors examine the effects of this and consider whether anything can be done to maintain the standards and quality of television at a time of unlimited competition

Re-scheduling Television in the Digital Era Hanne Bruun, 2019-12-06 This book explores how the television industry is adapting its production culture and professional practises of scheduling to an increasingly non linear television paradigm a testing ground where different communicative tools are tried out in a volatile industry Based on four case studies the book argues that a new television paradigm is being produced from within the multiplatform television organisations themselves in order to adapt to changing viewer habits and the tensions between digital and broadcast television Drawing on a unique genre and production studies approach that cuts across the humanities and sociology in television studies chapters cover in depth studies of The communicative changes to the on air schedule as a televisual text phenomenon in the digital era and how the conceptualisations of the audience are changing in scheduling and curation for multiplatform portfolios The changing production culture of scheduling in companies for their multiplatform portfolios The dilemmas of curation in multiplatform portfolios Situated at the intersection of the humanities and sociology in media production studies this book will be of key interest to scholars and students of television studies media production studies and cultural studies and to researchers and media professionals and management in the television industry Screen Tastes Charlotte

Brunsdon, 2005-07-26 Charlotte Brundson's key writings on film and television are brought together with new introductions which contextualise and update the arguments The focus is on the tastes and pleasures of the female consumer as she is produced by popular film and television The National Black Drama Anthology Woodie King, 1995 Presents plays by African American playwrights including Robert Johnson's Trick the Devil Marsha Jackson's Sisters and Nubia Kai's Harvest the Frost Crossroads Dorothy Hobson, 1982 Crossroads one of the most successful programmes on television has attracted a huge and devoted audience of some 15 million regular viewers Yet like many soap operas it is derided by the press and treated with distaste by other programme makers Indeed despite its popularity its very future currently hangs in the balance While doing independent research on popular television in the ATV studios in 1981 Dorothy Hobson observed the storm that developed around the company's decision to dispense with Meg Mortimer star of Crossroads The repercussions of that announcement were immense and highlighted the gulf between the broadcasting authorities and the programme's critics and the Crossroads production team and the audience Through talking to the actors the programme controller and the viewing public she went on to explore the contradictions of why and how a soap opera is made and viewed examining the appeal of Crossroads and attempting to locate the programme as part of contemporary popular culture The result is a revealing controversial but also very absorbing analysis of a soap opera in crisis Midnight Crossroad (TV Tie-In)
