

Television Network News Coverage of the Eagleton Affair: a Case Study

Two networks were positive, one slightly negative in both news stories and commentaries. Results dispute notion that networks are uniform.

► On Aug. 1, 1972, Sen. Thomas Eagleton signed his resignation letter as vice presidential candidate for the Democratic Party, becoming the first man in American history to do so. This climaxed a week-long battle to retain his place on the Democratic ticket and signaled the end of what came to be known as the Eagleton Affair.

After the dust had settled on the Eagleton Affair, it was clear that evaluations of media performance during this period were far from flattering. "In the Eagleton Affair," one columnist wrote, "the nation had a taste, more of a taste than it liked, of the media's capacity for inhumanity to man."¹ Another writer called media performance "a mob scene out of Shakespeare... (displaying) all the tyrannous powers that our country has traditionally feared to be vested in the hands of government."²

The Eagleton episode provides a good case study of media performance during the 1972 elections because of its specific and limited scope. The performance of television news will be analyzed according to the following research questions:

1) Was network evening news coverage disproportionately negative to Thomas Eagleton?

2) How much attention—in terms of length and number of stories—was given by the network newscasts to the Eagleton story, relative to other political campaign stories?

3) Was there a difference between networks in the degree of favorability or unfavorability of coverage of the Eagleton story?

4) Was there a difference in the degree of favorability or unfavorability towards Eagleton between a network's news coverage and its commentary?

Method

Materials and Sample. A videotape compilation of all network evening news stories on Thomas Eagleton between July 25, 1972, and August 1, 1972, was obtained from the Vanderbilt University Television News Archive. The sample included 20 news stories and 5 commentaries from ABC; 17 news stories and 2 commentaries for CBS; and 16 news stories and 3 commentaries for NBC.³

The Coefficient of Imbalance. The coefficient of imbalance presents "an overall estimate of the degree of imbalance, i.e., the extent to which favorable, neutral, or unfavorable treatment is accorded to the topic or symbol under analy-

Larson, 1984 This volume examines U S network television coverage of international news based on experiences of the past decade First it describes significant patterns and trends in the international affairs content of network news during the decade from 1972 1981 including story formats visual and audio techniques and trends in the amount and nature of coverage given to nations and regions of the world Second it examines major influences that shape international news content on network television including satellite technology electronic newsgathering and the global distribution of foreign correspondents Over the Wire and on TV Michael J. Robinson, Margaret A. Sheehan, 1983-07-19 First the press became the media and now the media have become the Imperial Media or have they In this timely and comprehensive analysis Michael Robinson and Margaret Sheehan examine how the news media behaved or misbehaved in covering the 1980 presidential campaign Using the media s own traditional standards as a guide Robinson and Sheehan measure the level of objectivity fairness seriousness and criticism displayed by CBS News and United Press International between January and December of 1980 Drawing on statistical analyses of almost 6 000 news stories and dozens of interviews with writers and reporters the authors reach convincing and sometimes surprising conclusions They demonstrate for example that both CBS and UPI strictly avoided subjective assessments of the candidates and their positions on the issues Both gave the major parties remarkably equal access But the media seem to give more negative coverage to front runners treating serious challengers less harshly Perhaps the most surprising finding is that networks were not more superficial than print CBS attended to the issues at least as often as UPI Robinson and Sheehan find television coverage more subjective more volatile and substantially more negative than traditional print But CBS behaved neither imperially nor irresponsibly in Campaign 80 The networks did however emulate the more highly charged journalism of the eastern elite print press By blending the quantitative techniques of social science and the tools of Washington based journalism Robinson and Sheehan have produced a book that will be essential reading for students and practitioners of politics public opinion research journalism and communications Lively and readable it should also appeal to anyone interested in the role of the news media in contemporary politics Civic Discourse and Digital Age Communications in the Middle East Leo A.
