The Feminine Connection Freeing The Female Psyche:

The Feminine Connection Gayle Owens, 2004-08-01 Dr Owens experience as a clinician researcher and woman convinced her that most women struggle with their self esteem and she believes a root cause is that women don't like and accept themselves as women The patriarchy has deprived women of the knowledge that hidden within their psyche is a treasure trove the feminine archetype Women reject the feminine harming themselves over and over again without even knowing it because this injury has become the norm But such feminine qualities as passion letting go gentleness and intuition are essential to healthy human functioning and offer an essential contrast and balance to the masculine On a physical level her body both the earth and the human carries and nourishes new life On a psychological level she is the unconscious giving birth to consciousness Consequently a continuing interplay between consciousness and the unconscious is crucial to having vibrant developing minds In The Feminine Connection Dr Owens inspires women in every walk of life to rediscover the value of the feminine She delves into the psychological theories of Carl Jung and relies on historical perspectives of societies and religions from the dawn of time By understanding their feminine side she believes women can assuage problems like midlife crises codependency and other emotional problems Only when women recognize and honor the feminine will they be able to honor themselves
