Social Competence and Mental Handicap H. C. Gunzburg, 1973-01 Spatial Orientation Herbert Pick, 2012-12-06

How do people know where in the world they are How do they find their way about These are the sort of questions about spatial orientation with which this book is concerned Staying spatially oriented is a pervasive aspect of all behavior Animals must find their way through their environment searching efficiently for food and returning to their home areas and many species have developed very sophisticated sensing apparatus for helping them do this Even little children know their way around quite complex environments They remember where they put things and are able to retrieve them with little trouble Adults in societies across the world have developed complex navigational systems for helping them find their way over long distances with few distinctive landmarks People across the world use their languages to communicate about spatial orientation in problems of simple direction giving and spatial descriptions as well as problems of long range navigation

Psychology and Education of Slow Learners Roy I. Brown, 2017-09-13 Originally published in 1976 this introductory text for those intending to work with slow learners was concerned with the practical implications of recent British and North American research in the field of psychology and education at the time Slow learners are young people who for a variety of reasons continuously or for long periods under function in terms of intelligence educational attainment and social skills This book offers a clear analysis of the problems facing slow learners their psychology and the types of education open to them Dr Brown reassesses the needs of disabled children and adults in the context of their families with the emphasis on the practical level of activity and training possible for them The aim is the integration of the disabled person in society and the belief is that services for the disabled should be integrated with no professional person working on an isolated basis but as part of a multidisciplinary professional team Design for individuals entering the field of teaching particularly those concerned with special education training and rehabilitation programmes the book should also be of value to social workers psychologists and other professional people working in the field as well as to parents of disabled children International Review of Research in Mental Retardation Laraine Masters Glidden, Harvey N.
