Technological Change In The Information Economy:

Technological Change in the Information Economy Peter Monk, 1989 By integrating concepts from technical change theory with those of information economics and organizational management in the context of original empirical research results a broad theoretical investigation of the process of technological change in the information technology industry is produced It is international in focus and deals with the issues that are common to most segments of the industry thereby making this book a substantial advance in knowledge about this field Distributed by Columbia U Press Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

The Economics of Localized Technological Change and Industrial Dynamics Cristiano Antonelli, 2012-12-06 The concept of localized technological change is emerging at the crossroads of different approaches to the economics of innovation and new technologies The term localized technological change refers to the introduction of technological changes which make possible an increase in total factor productivity within only a limited range of techniques defined by the levels of factor intensity This contrasts with generalized technological change which is defined as the global shift of all the techniques represented on the map of isoquants of the neoclassical tradition The Economics of Localized Technological Change elaborates the notion of localized technology with respect to firms factor substitution sectors regions and techniques It also assesses the implications for industrial policy technology and innovation policy The book will be of interest to corporate policy makers scholars of industrial organization and economics of innovation as well as business school students Technological Change, Economic Development and Space Cristoforo S. Bertuglia, Manfred M. Fischer, Giorgio Preto, 2012-12-06 The pressures of global competition are affecting regions throughout the world and making it increasingly necessary to understand the complex underlying mechanisms and the potential for innovation offered by new technology Success in economic restructuring depends not only on the technology itself but the professional and entrepreneurial skills available and the support of provided by institutions and information networks The very local nature these phenomena which are critical to the innovative propensity of firms operating within the region introduces an inevitable spatial dimension The time therefore seems ripe to bring together contributions from scholars working in different but related disciplines with the aim of investigating the triangular relationship between technological change economic development and space The present volume offers a compact review of current theoretical developments and valuable insights deriving from recent empirical studies carried out both within Europe and elsewhere All those contributing to this volume are actively involved in research in the field Without their intellectual contribution and willingness to participate in this joint project the book would not have been possible We should like in addition to thank Angela Spence for her capable assistance in coordinating the various stages of preparation of the book as well as her translation work and careful linguistic editing Thanks also go to Paola Stasi for her meticulous copy editing and help in preparing the indices Their work has been invaluable in moulding together in a single volume contributions from so many different sources

Microdynamics of Technological Change Cristiano Antonelli, 2002-01-04 This volume presents a comprehensive assessment of the economic effects of the emerging information and communication technologies associated with a knowledge based economy and looks at how knowledge is increasingly treated as a product in its own right An original framework is developed to comprehend these fundamental shifts based on three bodies of knowledge the economics of path dependence and of historical time as they are elaborated in the economics of new technologies economic topology based on the methodology of network analysis the new economics of knowledge and the concept of localized technological change This book provides a unified analytical framework for the study of the transition of advanced economic systems towards a knowledge based economy

Managing Social and Economic Change with Information Technology Information Resources Management Association. International Conference, 1994-01-01 Many experts believe that through the utilization of information technology organizations can better manage social and economic change This book investigates the challenges involved in the use of information technologies in managing these changes

Wired for Innovation Erik Brynjolfsson, Adam Saunders, 2009-09-11 Two experts on the information economy explore the true economic value of technology and innovation A wave of business innovation is driving the productivity resurgence in the U S economy In Wired for Innovation Erik Brynjolfsson and Adam Saunders describe how information technology directly or indirectly created this productivity explosion reversing decades of slow growth They argue that the companies with the highest level of returns to their technology investment are doing more than just buying technology they are inventing new forms of organizational capital to become digital organizations These innovations include a cluster of organizational and business process changes including broader sharing of information decentralized decision making linking pay and promotions to performance pruning of non core products and processes and greater investments in training and education Innovation continues through booms and busts This book provides an essential guide for policy makers and economists who need to understand how information technology is transforming the economy and how it will create value in the coming decade

Technological Change in a Spatial Context Enrico Ciciotti, Neil Alderman, Alfred Thwaites, 2012-12-06 This book represents a selection of contributions to the Regional Science Association European Summer Institute held at Arco Lake of Garda Italy from 17th to 23rd July 1988 on the theme of Theories and policies of technological development at the local level As such it forms a complementary volume to the collection of invited papers entitled The Spatial Context of Technological Development edited by Professors Riccardo Cappellin and Peter Nijkamp and published by Avebury Gower The Summer Institute covered a broad range of themes and contributions from over 100 researchers It has therefore not been our intention to represent or replicate these themes directly but to provide as wide an international coverage of current research in regional science in the field of technological change as possible The papers to be found in this book are drawn from the European Community Eastern Europe Scandinavia North America and elsewhere Inevitably as the book was to be published in English most of the editorial work has been undertaken at the Centre for Urban and Regional Development Studies at Newcastle University In so doing we have attempted to standardize the English as far as possible whilst trying not to lose the characteristics of the styles of the individual authors

Technological Change and the City Patrick Nicol Troy, 1995 This book looks at the complex relationships between cities technology economic factors environmental factors and social factors It points out how the form and structure of today's Australian cities the conditions in our cities and the choices about how we want our cities to be in the future are dependent on the decisions practices activities and investments made yesterday and today Reporting research on the major effects on the city of changes in the retailing industry land use and transport water sewerage and drainage services communications manufacturing and building it describes inter alia how the information age global economics innovation in the production system and environmental considerations are changing not only the way life is lived and business is done in the city but also how urban space is used and organised and how in turn these changes raise important social questions and challenge the very meaning of what constitutes a city

Handbook on the Economic Complexity of Technological Change Cristiano Antonelli, 2011-01-01 This comprehensive and innovative Handbook applies the tools of the economics of complexity to analyse the causes and effects of technological and structural change It grafts the intuitions of the economics of complexity into the tradition of analysis based upon the Schumpeterian and Marshallian legacies The Handbook elaborates the notion of innovation as an emerging property of the organized complexity of an economic system and provides the basic tools to understand the recursive dynamics between the emergence of innovation and the unfolding of organized complexity In so doing it highlights the role of organizational thinking in explaining the introduction of innovations and the dynamics of structural change With a new methodological approach to the economics of technological change this wide ranging volume will become the standard reference for postgraduates academics and practitioners in the fields of evolutionary economics complexity economics and the economics of innovation
