Television Policy The MacTaggart Lectures:

Television Policy Bob Franklin, 2019-07-30 Television Policy offers a unique and authoritative account of the major developments in television programming and policy since 1976 by collecting in a single volume the MacTaggart lectures delivered at the Edinburgh International Television Festival across the last quarter of a century The MacTaggart lecturers include the most celebrated and distinguished programme makers producers performers playwrights policymakers and senior media executives across all sectors of broadcasting They include Greg Dyke John Humphrys John McGrath Marcel Orphuls Norman Lear Jeremy Isaacs John Mortimer Peter Jay Ted Turner Jonathan Miller Denis Foreman John Schlesinger Troy Kennedy Martin Philip Whitehead Christine Ockrent Rupert Murdoch Verity Lambert David Elstein Michael Grade Dennis Potter Janet Street Porter John Birt Laurence Marks Maurice Gran Peter Bazalgette Richard Eyre David Liddiment and Mark Thompson With a Foreword by John Willis and an introductory essay exploring the history of the MacTaggart lectures and a review of the shifting themes and concerns of the lectures the book provides a forum for the significant debates which have helped to shape both television content and policy across twenty five years of considerable and unprecedented change in broadcasting Topics covered include the future of public service programming the relationship of government to broadcasters the impact of ownership on the freedom of broadcasters and debates about whether and how television should be regulated Television Policy is essential reading for all students of media and communication studies as well as those interested in reading accounts of television programming and policy written by some of the most eloquent eminent but contentious figures in television broadcasting Features The first collection of the prestigious MacTaggart Lectures A unique insight into the development of television programming across 25 years Television Policy Bob Franklin, 2004 This text offers an authoritative account of the major developments in television programming and policy since 1976 by collecting together the MacTaggart lectures delivered at the Edinburgh International Television Festival The lecturers include Jeremy Isaacs Rupert Murdoch Michael Grade Dennis Potter and Greg Dyke British Television Policy Bob Franklin, 2001 British Television Policy A Reader provides a forum for the significant policy debates which have informed and shaped television broadcasting since the publication in 1986 of the Peacock Committee Report on the financing of the BBC The Reader presents key documents and critically analyses their impact on the organisation financial resources programme content editorial philosophy and the regulatory environment of television broadcasting Recognising that policy making is not wholly a prerogative of government British Television Policy provides readers with access to a wide range of statutory and non governmental documents which have affected British broadcasting legislation Acts of Parliament Private Members Bills Select Committee Reports Official statements by Ministers Parliamentary inquiries such as the Davies Report Policy documents prepared by interest groups such as the Campaign for Quality Television and the Voice of the Listener and Viewer Strategic announcements from the ITC Statements from the BBC and ITV Public lectures by media owners and executives such as Rupert Murdoch and Richard Eyre Commentaries from media academics and media analysts Beginning with a comprehensive editorial introduction which details television policy since 1945 the Reader is arranged in thematic sections which explore the purpose of television broadcasting the financing of television broadcasting policy and quality regulation and the relationship of broadcasting and politics Each section is accompanied by an editor's introduction and commentary and the Reader is supported by a glossary and a guide to further reading The Rise and Fall of Television Journalism Steven Barnett, 2011-11-08 This book traces the history of television journalism in Britain from its austere roots in the BBC's post war monopoly to the present day plethora of 24 hour channels and celebrity presenters It asks why a medium whose thirst for pictures personalities and drama makes it some believe intrinsically unsuitable for serious journalism should remain in the internet age the most influential purveyor of news Barnett compares the two very different trajectories of television journalism in Britain and the US arguing that from the outset a rigorous statutory and regulatory framework rooted in a belief about the democratic value of the medium created and sustained a culture of serious responsible accurate and interrogative journalism in British television The book's overarching thesis is that despite a very different set of historical regulatory and institutional practices there is a very real danger that Britain is now heading down the same road as America TV Futures Andrew T. Kenyon, 2007-01-01 TV Futures Digital Television Policy in Australia brings together leading writers from both law and media studies to examine the implications of the shift to digital television for the platforms and audiences copyright law and media regulation The book combines writers with expertise in media law and copyright law with those skilled in media policy and social and cultural research Through its scope and topicality the book substantially develops the literature on digital television to serve readers from across the fields of law the humanities and social sciences Key Concepts in Public Relations Bob Franklin, Mike Hogan, Quentin Langley, Nick Mosdell, Elliot

The Future of Journalism Developments and Debates analyses the radical shifts in journalism which are changing every aspect of the gathering reporting and reception of news The drivers of these changes include the rapid innovations in communication technologies the competitive and fragmenting markets for audiences and advertising revenues and the collapse of traditional business models for financing media organisations as well as changing audience requirements for news the ways in which it is presented and the expansive number of increasingly mobile devices on which it is produced and consumed Each of these trends has significant implications for journalists for their jobs workplaces products and perceptions of their professional roles ethical judgements and day to day practice They also pose significant challenges for the future funding of a sustainable critical and high quality democratic journalism The Future of Journalism Developments and Debates comprises the research based responses of distinguished academic specialists and professional journalists to the challenging issues involved in assessing the future of journalism It is essential reading for everyone interested in the changing role of journalism in the economic democratic and cultural life of communities locally nationally and globally This book was originally published as two special issues of Journalism Studies and Journalism Practice

Can the Media Serve Democracy? S. Coleman, G. Moss, K. Parry, 2015-12-05 This landmark collection brings leading scholars in the field of political communication to debate one of the most important questions of our age Can the media serve democracy For the media to be democratic they must enter into a positive relationship with their readers viewers and listeners as citizens rather than consumers who buy things audiences who gaze upon spectacles or isolated egos obsessed with themselves The media's first task is to remind people that they are inhabitants of a world in which they can make a difference By enabling citizens to encounter and make sense of events relationships and cultures of which they have no direct experience the media constitute a public arena in which members of the public come together as more than passing strangers
