Public Television in Poland Agnieszka Węglińska, 2021-10-03

This book examines the professional activity of public television journalists in Poland operating in the still unstable system of a post communist state to demonstrate how the media can work in the public interest to strengthen democracy Drawing on in depth interviews with Telewizja Polska TVP journalists the author shows how public television in Poland has become highly politicised and commercialised and must defend against constant attacks on its autonomy She draws parallels with the media systems in Hungary and the Czech Republic to analyse potential legal solutions and to highlight how Poland s journalists are subject to influences from the political class as well as from the market a situation brought about by flawed legislation the absence of a political culture an inefficient internal regulating process and lack of suitable training for the journalists themselves Adding an important perspective on recently developed media systems this book will be an important resource for scholars and students of journalism media studies media industries politics and media history

Alison Gazzard, 2024-05-21 The story of a pioneering microcomputer its beginnings as part of a national Computer Literacy Project its innovative hardware and its creative uses In 1982 the British Broadcasting Corporation launched its Computer Literacy Project intended to introduce interested adults to the world of computers and computing The BBC accompanied this initiative with television programs courses books and software an early experiment in multi platform education The BBC along with Acorn Computers also introduced the BBC Microcomputer which would be at the forefront of the campaign The BBC Micro was designed to meet the needs of users in homes and schools to demystify computing and to counter the general pessimism among the media in Britain about technology In this book Alison Gazzard looks at the BBC Micro examining the early capabilities of multi platform content generation and consumption and the multiple literacies this approach enabled not only in programming and software creation but also in accessing information across a range of media and in do it yourself computing She links many of these early developments to current new media practices Gazzard looks at games developed for the BBC Micro including Granny s Garden an educational game for primary schools and Elite the seminal space trading game

She considers the shift in focus from hardware to peripherals describing the Teletext Adapter as an early model for software distribution and the Domesday Project which combined texts video and still photographs as a hypermedia like experience Gazzard s account shows the BBC Micro not only as a vehicle for various literacies but also as a user oriented machine that pushed the boundaries of what could be achieved in order to produce something completely new InfoWorld ,1980-02-18 InfoWorld is targeted to Senior IT professionals Content is segmented into Channels and Topic Centers InfoWorld also celebrates people companies and projects
