I slipped the needle into the groove. The first chords were exciting enough — slow and mellow. I didn't jump through, until I heard THE VOICE! It pierced the filtered air in the broadcasting studio — rising sharply until it bounced off the soundproofed walls. Then I caught the harmony, wrapped tightly around the lead, perfect, laying low, never dominating. And then I had to split my attention between this magnificent performance and what was happening in the song itself: "... No Man Is An Island ... No Man Stands Alone" A message received. A new group. A new thing. Very together.

That was my reaction to the record that began the real music-loving public's love affair with THE VAN DYKES — three lads from Fort Worth, Texas — Ronaldin Tandy, James Mays and Wenzon Moody.

Their other hits have followed their serious style; slow and deliberate, almost companion-dazzling. They are currently traveling the show business circuit doing theatre dates and one nighters, equally serious about learning the ins and outs of a difficult thing called show business and a complicated thing called life.

For your enjoyment, Mula Records presents this, the first album showcasing the versatile, musically philosophical VAN DYKES.
