Art Scents Larry Shiner,2020-02-11 Although the arts of incense and perfume making are among the oldest of human cultural practices it is only in the last two decades that the use of odors in the creation of art has begun to attract attention under the rubrics of olfactory art or scent art Contemporary olfactory art ranges from gallery and museum installations and the use of scents in music film and drama to the ambient scenting of stores and the use of scents in cuisine All these practices raise aesthetic and ethical issues but there is a long standing philosophical tradition most notably articulated in the work of Kant and Hegel which argues that the sense of smell lacks the cognitive capacity to be a vehicle for either serious art or reflective aesthetic experience This neglect and denigration of the aesthetic potential of smell was further reinforced by Darwin s and Freud s views of the human sense of smell as a near useless evolutionary vestige Smell has thus been widely neglected within the philosophy of art Larry Shiner s wide ranging book counters this tendency aiming to reinvigorate an interest in smell as an aesthetic experience He begins by countering the classic arguments against the aesthetic potential of smell with both philosophical arguments and evidence from neuroscience psychology anthropology history linguistics and literature He then draws on this empirical evidence to explore the range of aesthetic issues that arise in each of the major areas of the olfactory arts whether those issues arise from the use of scents with theater and music sculpture and installation architecture and urban design or avant garde cuisine Shiner gives special attention to the art status of perfumes and to the ethical issues that arise from scenting the body the ambient scenting of buildings and the use of scents in fast food Shiner's book provides both philosophers and other academic readers with not only a comprehensive overview of the aesthetic issues raised by the emergence of the olfactory arts but also shows the way forward for further studies of the aesthetics of smell

Documenting Ourselves Sharon R. Sherman, 2021-10-21 Since Robert Flaherty's landmark film Nanook of the North 1922 arguments have raged over whether or not film records of people and traditions can ever be authentic And yet never before has a single volume combined documentary ethnographic and folkloristic filmmaking to explore this controversy What happens when we turn the camera on ourselves This question has long plagued documentary filmmakers concerned with issues of reflexivity subject participation and self consciousness Documenting Ourselves includes interviews with filmmakers Les Blank Pat Ferrero Jorge Preloran Bill Ferris and others who discuss the ways their own productions and subjects have influenced them Sharon Sherman examines the history of documentary films and discusses current theories and techniques of folklore and fieldwork But Sharon Sherman does not limit herself to the problems faced by filmmakers today She examines the history of documentary films tracing them from their origins as a means of capturing human motion through the emergence of various film styles She also discusses current theories and techniques of folklore and fieldwork concluding that advances in video technology have made the camcorder an essential tool that has the potential to redefine the nature of the documentary itself
