Islands in Deep Time Markes E. Johnson, 2023-10-31 Hilltops surrounded by farmland in southern Wisconsin turn out to be the eroded remnants of an ancient archipelago An island in the Yellow Sea where Korean tourists flock is the peak of a flooded mountain rising from a drowned continental shelf From a mountaintop shrine to Genghis Khan in Inner Mongolia the silhouette of a Silurian seascape can be spotted On the shores of Hudson Bay where polar bears patrol the Arctic tundra a close look unveils what was a tropical coastline encrusted with corals nearly 450 million years ago The geologist Markes E. Johnson invites readers on a journey through deep time to find the traces of ancient islands He visits a dozen sites around the globe looking above and below today's waterlines to uncover how landscapes of the past are preserved in the present Going back 500 million years to the Cambrian through the Pleistocene 125 000 years ago this book reconstructs how paleoislands appeared under different climatic conditions and environmental constraints Finding vestiges of prehistoric ecologies Johnson emphasizes the complexity of island ecosystems and the importance of preserving these significant sites Inviting and accessible this book is a travelogue that takes readers through time as well as space Islands in Deep Time shares the adventure of exploring striking locations across geologic eras and issues a passionate call for their conservation Hear Where We Are Michael Stocker, 2013-08-20 Throughout history hearing and sound perception have been typically framed in the context of how sound conveys information and how that information influences the listener Hear Where We Are inverts this premise and examines how humans and other hearing animals use sound to establish acoustical relationships with their surroundings This simple inversion reveals a panoply of possibilities by which we can re-evaluate how hearing animals use produce and perceive sound Nuance in vocalizations become signals of enticement or boundary setting silence becomes a field ripe in auditory possibilities predator prey relationships are infused with acoustic deception and sounds that have been considered territorial cues become the fabric of cooperative acoustical communities This inversion also expands the context of sound perception into a larger perspective that centers on biological adaptation within acoustic habitats Here the rapid synchronized flight patterns of flocking birds and the tight maneuvering of schooling fish becomes an acoustic engagement Likewise when stridulating crickets synchronize their summer evening chirrups it has more to do with the cricket community monitoring their collective boundaries rather than individual crickets establishing personal territory or breeding fitness In Hear Where We Are the author continuously challenges many of the bio acoustic orthodoxies reframing the entire inquiry into sound perception and communication By moving beyond our common assumptions many of the mysteries of acoustical behavior become revealed exposing a fresh and fertile panorama of acoustical experience and adaptation Popular Music

Mapping the Posthuman Grant Hamilton, Carolyn Lau, 2023-12-22 This book works to delineate some of the major routes by which science and art intersect Structured according to the origin myths of the posthuman that continue to shape the idea of the human in our technological modernity this volume gives space to narratives of alter modernity that resonate with Ursula K Le Guin s call for a new kind of story which exposes the violence and exploitation driven by a sustained belief in human exceptionalism anthropocentrism and cultural superiority In this context the posthuman myths of multispecies flourishing given in this collection which are situated across a range of historical times and locations and media and modalities are to be thought of as kernels of possible futures that can only be realized through collective endeavour

Where Land Meets Sea Anna Ryan, 2016-02-11 Drawing together philosophical empirical and academic thinking this book focuses on generating awareness of the relationship forged between self and surroundings It details research undertaken at two coastal sites the South Wall in Dublin city and the Maharees peninsula in Co Kerry Ireland Sixty two participants were engaged in photography and drawing to enable this exploration of spatial experience The participants photographs and drawings present how spatial sensibilities can be revealed by becoming more attentive to the immediacy of bodily knowledge our more than cognitive experience Their communications resonate with the philosophers and theorists considered including Merleau Ponty Edward Casey Gilles Deleuze Dalibor Vesely and contemporary cultural geographers From exploring the experienced spatiality of the meeting of land and sea this book begins to suggest an alternative politics of the coast

Australia on the World Stage Bridget Brooklyn, Benjamin T. Jones, Rebecca Strating, 2022-10-18 Australia on the World Stage History Politics and International Relations offers a fresh examination of Australia's past and present. From the complex interactions of First Nations to modern international relations with significant partners and allies, it examines the forces that have influenced the place now called Australia both historically and today. It is a unique history told in two parts. The first half of the book examines the way Australia acted on the world stage both before and after British colonisation. It outlines the evolution of Australia's relationship with the United Kingdom, first as colonies, then a dominion, and finally as an independent nation. It finishes with a First Nations perspective on foreign relations. The second half of the book provides a wide-ranging history of Australia's dealings with major powers, the United States and China, as well as its relationships with New Zealand, Aotearoa, the Pacific Islands, Indonesia, Japan, Antarctica, and the United Nations. Written by leading and emerging researchers in their fields, this book encourages the reader to consider Australia's performance on the world stage over the longue durée well before the word Australia was ever dreamt up. This interdisciplinary work challenges lazy stereotypes that see Australia's international history as fixed and uncontested. In revisiting Australia's foreign relations, this work also asks the reader to consider its future directions.

Religion and Non-Religion among Australian Aboriginal Peoples James L. Cox, Adam Possamai, 2016-12-01. Offering a significant contribution to the emerging field of Non-Religion Studies, Religion and Non-Religion among Australian Aboriginal Peoples draws on Australian 2011 Census statistics to ask whether the Indigenous Australian population, like the wider Australian society, is becoming increasingly secularised, or whether there are other explanations for the surprisingly high percentage of Aboriginal people in Australia who state that they have no religion. Contributors from a range of disciplines consider three central questions: How do Aboriginal Australians understand or interpret what Westerners have called religion? Do Aboriginal Australians distinguish being religious from being non-religious? How have modernity and Christianity affected Indigenous understandings of religion? These questions refocus Western-dominated concerns with the decline or revival of religion by incorporating how Indigenous Australians have responded to modernity, how modernity has affected Indigenous peoples' religious behaviours and perceptions, and how variations of response can be found in rural and urban contexts.

The Vintage Book Of Walking Duncan Minshull, 2011-09-30. It is good to collect things, but better to go on walks. Anatole France. A fundamental act, often taken for granted, yet through the centuries it has inspired a fascinating literature. This, the first comprehensive anthology on the subject, delves into why we walk and how we walk, the differences between the country hike and the city stroll, walking and wooing, walking into trouble and marching out. Then some of us will walk to meet the Maker. A mix of fiction and non-fiction, poetry and drama, provides the reader with over two hundred bootstrapped authors. Xenophanes and Baudelaire, Flora Thompson and Julian Barnes, Mark Twain and Roberto Calasso tramp the pages of this fascinating collection.

Tending to Stories in Feminist Theologies Helena Kadmos, Katharine Massam, 2025-09-16. Tending to Stories in Feminist Theologies is interested in the place of story tellers in communities of hope. Where some theologies wrestle for clarity of definition, feminist and other theologies of liberation begin from experience and tend towards story as a vehicle for speaking of the Divine Ambiguity and precision both find their place This collection embraces different materials to explore the place of stories and narrative within feminist theology to explore how meaning happens to seek justice and to forge compassion As for theology so too with form This volume does not just discuss but actively demonstrates a variety of ways in which stories can be heard and held Between and within chapters the authors weave together artwork literature creative non fiction and poetic form with critically informed and academic exposition to invite reflection on the place of story in creating solidarity and enabling community The book contributes to scholarly conversations on feminist theological method on the relationship between the arts and theology and on the dialogue between secular and sacred in Australasia and elsewhere New Narratives Ruth Page, Bronwen Thomas, 2011-12-01 Just as the explosive growth of digital media has led to ever expanding narrative possibilities and practices so these new electronic modes of storytelling have in their own turn demanded a rapid and radical rethinking of narrative theory This timely volume takes up the challenge deeply and broadly considering the relationship between digital technology and narrative theory in the face of the changing landscape of computer mediated communication New Narratives reflects the diversity of its subject by bringing together some of the foremost practitioners and theorists of digital narratives It extends the range of digital subgenres examined by narrative theorists to include forms that have become increasingly prominent new examples of experimental hypertext and contemporary video games The collection also explicitly draws connections between the development of narrative theory technological innovation and the use of narratives in particular social and cultural contexts Finally New Narratives focuses on how the tools provided by new technologies may be harnessed to provide new ways of both producing and theorizing narrative Truly interdisciplinary the book offers broad coverage of contemporary narrative theory including frameworks that draw from classical and postclassical narratology linguistics and media studies
