Songlines To Satellites Indigenous Communication In Australia The South Pac:

Songlines to Satellites Helen Molnar, Michael Meadows, 2001 Examines how indigenous people in Australia New Zealand the South Pacific Island countries and Canada make use of their own communications technologies as cultural social and political resources

South Pacific Islands Communication Evangelia Papoutsaki, 2008 Bringing together scholarly contributions on communications issues across the South Pacific islands this work aims to create a better understanding of what affects information flow and communication in smaller nations and how these impact on national development governance and the creation of more cohesive societies

The Habitat of Australia's Aboriginal Languages Gerhard Leitner, Ian G. Malcolm, 2008-08-22 The languages of Aboriginal Australians have attracted a considerable amount of interest among scholars from such diverse fields as linguistics political studies archaeology or social history As a result there is a large number of studies on a variety of issues to do with Aboriginal Australian languages and the social contexts in which they are used There is however no integrative reader that is easily accessible to the non specialist in any of the areas concerned The collection edited by Leitner and Malcolm fills this gap Looking at Aborigines and Torres Strait Islanders and their changing habitats from pre colonial times to the present the book covers languages from a structural and functional linguistic perspective moves on to the issue of cultural maintenance and then turns to language policy planning and the educational and legal dimensions Among the many themes discussed are the social and linguistic history of language contact after 1788 including the Macassans the demographic base of indigenous languages traditional indigenous languages results of language contact such as the modification of traditional languages and the rise of contact languages pidgins creoles esp Kriol Torres Strait Creole and Aboriginal English the impact of the Aboriginal languages on mainstream Australian English maintenance shift revival and documentation of indigenous and contact languages language planning language in education language in the media language in the law courts The contributors are leading experts in their fields The book can serve as a reader for university courses but also as a state of the art work and resource for specialists like applied linguists or educational planners

Sovereign Screens Kristin L. Dowell, 2020-04-01 While Indigenous media have gained increasing prominence around the world the vibrant Aboriginal media world on the Canadian West Coast has received little scholarly attention As the first ethnography of the Aboriginal media community in Vancouver Sovereign Screens reveals the various social forces shaping Aboriginal media production including community media organizations and avant garde art centers as well as the national spaces of cultural policy and media institutions Kristin L Dowell uses the concept of visual sovereignty to examine the practices forms and meanings through which Aboriginal filmmakers tell their individual stories and those of their Aboriginal nations and the intertribal urban communities in which they work She explores the ongoing debates within the community about what constitutes Aboriginal media how this work intervenes in the national Canadian mediascape and how filmmakers use technology in a wide range of genres including experimental media to recuperate cultural traditions and reimagine Aboriginal kinship and sociality Analyzing the interactive relations between this social community and the media forms it produces Sovereign Screens offers new insights into the on screen and off screen impacts of Aboriginal media

Virtual Nation Gerard Goggin,2004 The first comprehensive book on the Australian Internet Virtual Nation offers a surprising thought provoking and rigorous introduction to a technology that we now can't do without

Voices in the Wilderness Michael Meadows,2000-12-30 This book examines race relations in Australia through various media representations over the past 200 years The early colonial press perpetuated the image of aboriginal people as framed by early explorers and stereotypes and assumptions still prevail Print and television news accounts of several key events in recent Australian history are compared and reveal how indigenous sources are excluded from stories about their affairs Journalists wield extraordinary power in shaping the images of cultures and people so indigenous people like those in North America have turned away from mainstream media and have acquired their own means of cultural production through radio television and multimedia This study concludes with suggestions for addressing media practices to reconcile indigenous and non indigenous people This study will appeal to students and scholars studying mass media particularly journalism and public relations Australian history and sociology

The Media and Communications in Australia Bridget Griffen-Foley,Sue Turnbull,2023-11-21 At a time when the traditional media have been reshaped by digital technologies and audiences have fragmented people are using mediated forms of communication to manage all aspects of their daily lives as well as for news and entertainment The Media and Communications in Australia offers a systematic introduction to this dynamic field Fully updated and expanded this fifth edition outlines the key media industries from print sound and television to film gaming and public relations and explains how communications technologies have changed the ways in which they now operate It offers an overview of the key approaches to the field including a consideration of Indigenous communication and features a hot topics section with contributions on issues including diversity misinformation algorithms COVID 19 web series and national security With chapters from Australia's leading researchers and teachers in the field The Media and Communications in Australia remains the most comprehensive and reliable introduction to media and communications from an Australian perspective It is an ideal student text and a key resource for teachers lecturers media practitioners and anyone interested in understanding these influential industries

Indigenous Screen Cultures in Canada Sigurjon Baldur Hafsteinsson,Marian Bredin,2010-09-01 Indigenous media challenges the power of the state erodes communication monopolies and illuminates government threats to Indigenous cultural social economic and political sovereignty Its effectiveness in these areas however is hampered by government control of broadcast frequencies licensing and legal limitations over content and ownership Indigenous Screen Cultures in Canada explores key questions surrounding the power and suppression of Indigenous narrative and representation in contemporary Indigenous media Focussing primarily on the Aboriginal Peoples Television Network the authors also examine Indigenous language broadcasting in radio television and film Aboriginal journalism

Sámi Research in Transition Laura Junka-Aikio, Jukka Nyssönen, Veli-Pekka Lehtola, 2021-11-24 For several decades now there have been calls to decolonize research on the Indigenous Sámi people and to make it accountable to the Sámi society While this has contributed to the rise of a vibrant Sámi research community in the Nordic countries less attention has been paid to what extent and how the Sámi turn in research has been implemented in practice Written by prominent Nordic and Sámi scholars anchored in the Sámi research communities in Finland Norway and Sweden this volume explores not only the meanings and implications of this turn across disciplines but also some of the challenges that efforts to create space for Sámi voices knowledges and perspectives still meet today The book provides a timely interdisciplinary engagement with the central themes that have framed the development of Sámi research and a critical appraisal of the impact that efforts to decolonize research in the Sámi context have had upon Nordic societies and state policies so far Sámi Research in Transition is valuable for scholars and students interested in Sámi history and society Arctic and Circumpolar Indigenous studies and critical studies on the relationship between knowledge and social change The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Indigenous Knowledges and the Sustainable Development Agenda Anders Breidlid, Roy Krøvel, 2020-04-17 This book discusses the vital importance of including indigenous knowledges in the sustainable development agenda In the wake of colonialism and imperialism dialogue between indigenous knowledges and Western epistemology has broken down time and again However in recent decades the broader indigenous struggle for rights and recognition has led to a better understanding of indigenous knowledges and in 2015 the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs outlined the importance of indigenous engagement in contributing to the implementation of the agenda Drawing on experiences and field work from Africa Asia Latin America and Europe Indigenous Knowledges and the Sustainable Development Agenda brings together authors who explore social educational institutional and ecological sustainability in relation to indigenous knowledges In doing so this book provides a comprehensive understanding of the concept of sustainability at both national and international levels from a range of diverse perspectives As the decolonizing debate gathers pace within mainstream academic discourse this book offers an important contribution to scholars across development studies environmental studies education and political ecology The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license

Dialogic Learning Jos van den Linden, Peter Renshaw, 2006-01-12 Contemporary researchers have analysed dialogue primarily in terms of instruction conversation or inquiry There is an irreducible tension when the terms dialogue and instruction are brought together because the former implies an emergent process of give and take whereas the latter implies a sequence of predetermined moves It is argued that effective teachers have learned how to perform in this contradictory space to both follow and lead to be both responsive and directive to require both independence and receptiveness from learners Instructional dialogue therefore is an artful performance rather than a prescribed technique Dialogues also may be structured as conversations which function to build consensus conformity to everyday ritualistic practices and a sense of community The dark side of the dialogic we and the community formed around our and us is the inevitable boundary that excludes them and theirs When dialogues are structured to build consensus and community critical reflection on the bases of that consensus is required and vigilance to ensure that difference and diversity are not being excluded or assimilated see Renshaw 2002 Again it is argued that there is an irreducible tension here because understanding and appreciating diversity can be achieved only through engagement and living together in communities Teachers who work to create such communities in their classrooms need to balance the need for common practices with the space to be different resistant or challenging again an artful performance that is difficult to articulate in terms of specific teaching techniques

Handbook of Research on Deconstructing Culture and Communication in the Global South Okocha, Desmond Onyemechi, Yousaf, Muhammad, Onobe, Melchizedec J., 2023-07-10 There are inequalities in global knowledge production in communication outlets cultural practices and governance problems Under this symbiotic relationship they reinforce the cultural ideas values and governance systems operating in the Western countries as an ideal and role model for the Global South countries Media is regarded as the agent of change for communication and cultural values Indigenous knowledge production and dissemination is an essential feature to get a better insight into Global South countries Likewise dewesternizing and demystifying societal culture and governance issues are pertinent in this age of information The Handbook of Research on Deconstructing Culture and Communication in the Global South focuses on local production practices keeping in view the local needs of communication outlets and societal and cultural sensitivities This Indigenous knowledge would provide deeper and richer insights into the problems and sensitivities of Global South countries To achieve this end this book adopts a broader approach encompassing development issues democratic values digitalization practices gender equality issues and more Covering topics such as biocultural activism language ideology and religiocentrism this major reference work is a valuable resource for graduate students sociologists government officials students and educators of higher education librarians development organization leaders religious scholars policymakers researchers and academicians

The New Media Nation Valerie Alia, 2012 Around the planet Indigenous people are using old and new technologies to amplify their voices and broadcast information to a global audience This is the first portrait of a powerful international movement that looks both inward and outward helping to preserve ancient languages and cultures while communicating across cultural political and geographical boundaries Based on more than twenty years of research observation and work experience in Indigenous journalism film music and visual art this volume includes specialized studies of Inuit in the circumpolar north and First Nations peoples in the Yukon and southern Canada and the United States

The Routledge Companion to Alternative and Community Media Chris Atton, 2015-05-15 The Routledge Companion to Alternative and Community Media provides an authoritative and comprehensive examination of the diverse forms practices and philosophies of alternative and community media across the world The volume offers a multiplicity of perspectives to examine the reasons why alternative and community media arise how they develop in particular ways and in particular places and how they can enrich our understanding of the broader media landscape and its place in society The 50 chapters present a range of theoretical and methodological positions and arguments to demonstrate the dynamic challenging and innovative thinking around the subject locating media theory and practice within the broader concerns of democracy citizenship social exclusion race class and gender In addition to research from the UK the US Canada Europe and Australia the Companion also includes studies from Colombia Haiti India South Korea and Zimbabwe enabling international comparisons to be made and also allowing for the problematisation of traditional often Western approaches to media studies By considering media practices across a range of cultures and communities this collection is an ideal companion to the key issues and debates within alternative and community media

Documentary Screens Keith Beattie, 2017-04-29 Documentary productions encompass remarkable representations of surprising realities How do documentaries achieve their ends What types of documentaries are there What factors are implicated in their production Such questions animate this engaging study Documentary Screens is a comprehensive and critical study of the formal features and histories of central categories of documentary film and television. Among the categories examined are autobiographical indigenous and ethnographic documentary compilation films direct cinema and cinema verite and television documentary journalism. The book also considers recent so called popular factual entertainment and the future of documentary film television and new media. This provocative and accessible analysis situates wide ranging examples from each category within the larger material forces which impact on documentary form and content. The important connection between form content and context explored in the book constitutes a new and lively documentary studies approach to documentary representation.
