The Law of the Near and Middle East Herbert J. Liebesny, 1975-01-01 A systematic survey of fundamental statements of Islamic and Near Eastern law that includes selections from the writings of classic Islamic scholars contemporary works on legal theory and modern Middle Eastern codes No other accessible work brings together so many useful materials on the development of Islamic law as does this volume based on translations from a variety of languages and numerous sources all of which are identified Because of the important role which law plays in Islamic culture some acquaintance with legal developments is indispensable if one is to gain a rounded picture of Islamic culture The Law of the Near and Middle East Herbert J. Liebesny, 1972 The Law of the Near East & Middle East Herbert J. Liebesny, 1975 Area Handbook for the Persian Gulf States Richard F. Nyrop, 1977 An attempt to provide a comprehensive study of the dominant aspects of the five societies of Bahrain Kuwait Qatar Oman and the United Arab Emirates and to identify patterns of behavior characteristic of their people The Anthropology of Justice Lawrence Rosen, 1989-06-15 Law has often been seen as a relatively autonomous domain one in which a professional elite sharply control the impact of broader social relations and cultural concepts By contrast this study asserts that the analysis of legal systems like the analysis of social systems generally requires an understanding of the concepts and relationships encountered in everyday social life Using as its substantive base the Islamic law courts of Morocco the study explores the cultural basis of judicial discretion From the proposition that in Arabic culture relationships are subject to considerable negotiation the idea is developed that the shaping of facts in a court of law the use of local experts and the organization of the judicial structure all contribute to the reliance on local concepts and personnel to inform the range of judicial discretion By drawing comparisons with the exercise of judicial discretion in America the study demonstrates that cultural concepts deeply inform the evaluation of issues and the shapes of a judge's decision The Anthropology of Justice is not only the first full scale study of the actual operations of the actual operations of a modern Islamic law court anywhere in the Arab world but a demonstration of the theoretical basis on which a cultural analysis of the law may be founded Area Handbook for the Persian Gulf States Richard F. Nyrop, 2008-01-14 Produced by the Foreign Area Studies of The American University for military and other personnel who need a convenient compilation of basic facts about the social economic political and military institutions of various Middle Eastern countries in 1977 this volume remains a useful compendium of information on the area Letters of Light J.R. Osborn, 2017-05-22 Arabic script is one of the world's most widely used writing systems for Arabic and non Arabic languages alike J R Osborn traces its evolution from the earliest inscriptions to digital fonts from calligraphy to print and beyond Students of communication contemporary practitioners and historians will find this narrative enlightening Defendant Rights Hamid R. Gender and Divorce Law in North Africa Maaïke Voorhoeve, 2014-04-25 Personal status laws remain a highly politicized area of debate in the Middle East as the arena in which the contentious issues of women s rights religion and minority groups meet This is especially so when it comes to divorce In Tunisia with the moderate Islamist party Ennahda winning the first elections following the 2011 revolution questions of religion in public life have gained greater primacy The country is often hailed for its progressive personal status code seen as an exception to the practice in many other Muslim countries Polygamy is banned for example and in divorce cases there is gender equality However Tunisia s legal system contains many gaps and leaves much room for interpretation Bearing in mind this importance of the role of Islam in judicial courts Maaïke Voorhoeve investigates whether the more progressive and ostensibly secular principles enshrined in Tunisia s Personal Status Code of 1956 are in fact adhered to in divorce cases And if not whether judges frequently turn to the Sharia custom or societal norms as their primary sources of guidance Through extensive research in the Tunisian courts Voorhoeve investigates the different types of divorce the arguments presented to the court and the consequent legal decisions made She focuses on the role of female judges testing the assumption that they adjudicate in a more gender neutral way and examining the impact they have had on Tunisian legal culture and through this Tunisian society Gender and Divorce Law in North Africa therefore sheds light on the wide reaching debate throughout North Africa and the Middle East concerning the role of Islam and Sharia in the public political legal and private spheres This debate which often pits secularists against Islamists but is in reality much more nuanced is key in a variety of fields including Middle East studies and Islamic law
