The Letters Of Gertrude Stein And Carl Van Vechten 1913 1946:

The Letters of Gertrude Stein and Carl Van Vechten, 1913-1946 Gertrude Stein, Carl Van Vechten, 1986-07-14 This monumental collection of correspondence between Gertrude Stein and critic novelist and photographer Carl Van Vechten provides crucial insight into Stein's life, art, and artistic milieu, as well as Van Vechten's support of major cultural projects such as the Harlem Renaissance. From their first meeting in 1913, Stein and Van Vechten formed a unique and powerful relationship, and Van Vechten worked vigorously to publish and promote Stein's work. Existing biographies of Stein, including her own autobiographical writings, omit a great deal about her experiences and thought. They lack the ordinary detail of what Stein called daily, everyday living: the immediate concerns, objects, people, and places that were the grist for her writing. These letters not only vividly represent those details but also showcase Stein and Van Vechten's private selves as writers. Edward Burns's extensive annotations include detailed cross-referencing of source materials.

Gertrude Stein and the Essence of what Happens Dana Cairns Watson, 2005 Watson traces Gertrude Stein's 1874-1946 growing fascination with the cognitive and political ramifications of conversation and how that interest influenced her writing over the course of her career. The Parisian Avant-Garde in the Age of Cinema, 1900-1923 Jennifer Wild, 2023-04-28 The first decades of the twentieth century were pivotal for the historical and formal relationships between early cinema and Cubism, mechanomorphism, abstraction, and Dada. To examine these relationships, Jennifer Wild's interdisciplinary study grapples with the cinema's expanded identity as a modernist form defined by the concept of horizontality. Found in early methods of projection, film exhibition, and in the film industry's penetration into cultural life by way of film stardom, advertising, and distribution, cinematic horizontality provides a new axis of inquiry for studying early twentieth-century modernism. Shifting attention from the film to the horizon of possibility around, behind, and beyond the screen, Wild shows how canonical works of modern art may be understood as responding to the changing characteristics of daily life after the cinema. Drawing from a vast popular cultural, cinematic, and art historical archive, Wild challenges how we have told the story of modern artists' earliest encounter with cinema and urges us to reconsider how early projection, film stardom, and film distribution transformed their understanding of modern life, representation, and the act of beholding. By highlighting the cultural, ideological, and artistic forms of interpellation and resistance that shape the phenomenology of a wartime era, The Parisian Avant-Garde in the Age of Cinema, 1900-1923 provides an interdisciplinary history of radical form. This book also offers a new historiography that redefines how we understand early cinema and avant-garde art before artists.
