

The Biblical Doctrine of the Trinity

by Benjamin B. Warfield

The term "Trinity" is not a Biblical term, and we are not using Biblical language when we define what is expressed by it as the doctrine that there is one only and true God, but in the unity of the Godhead there are three coeternal and coequal Persons, the same in substance but distinct in subsistence. A doctrine so defined can be spoken of as a Biblical doctrine only on the principle that the sense of Scripture is Scripture. And the definition of a Biblical doctrine in such unbiblical language can be justified only on the principle that it is better to preserve the truth of Scripture than the words of Scripture. The doctrine of the Trinity lies in Scripture in solution; when it is crystalized from its solvent it does not cease to be Scriptural, but only comes into clearer view. Or, to speak without figure, the doctrine of the Trinity is given to us in Scripture, not in formulated definition, but in fragmentary allusions; when we assembled the disiecta membra into their organic unity, we are not passing from Scripture, but entering more thoroughly into the meaning of Scripture. We may state the doctrine in technical terms, supplied by philosophical reflection; but the doctrine stated is a genuinely Scriptural doctrine.

In point of fact, the doctrine of the Trinity is purely a revealed doctrine. That is to say, it embodies a truth which has never been discovered, and is indiscoverable, by natural reason. With all his searching, man has not been able to find out for himself the deepest things of God. Accordingly, ethnic thought has never attained a Trinitarian conception of God, nor does any ethnic religion present in its representations of the Divine Being any analogy to the doctrine of the Trinity.

Triads of divinities, no doubt, occur in nearly all polytheistic religions, formed under very various influences. Sometimes as in the Egyptian triad of Osiris, Isis and Horus, it is the analogy of the human family with its father, mother and son which lies at their basis. Sometimes they are the effect of mere syncretism, three deities worshipped in different localities being brought together in the common worship of all. Sometimes, as in the Hindu triad of Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva, they represent the cyclic movement of a pantheistic evolution, and symbolize the three stages of Being, Becoming and Dissolution. Sometimes they are the result apparently of nothing more than an odd human tendency to think in threes, which has given the number three widespread standing as a sacred number (so H. Usener). It is no more than was to be anticipated, that one or another of these triads should now and again be pointed to as the replica (or even the original) of the Christian doctrine of the Trinity. Gladstone found the Trinity in the Homeric mythology, the trident of Poseidon being its symbol. Hegel very naturally found it in the Hindu Trimurti, which indeed is very like his

Dignity and Destiny John F. Kilner, 2015-01-08 Misunderstandings about what it means for humans to be created in God's image have wreaked devastation throughout history for example slavery in the U S genocide in Nazi Germany and the demeaning of women everywhere In Dignity and Destiny John Kilner explores what the Bible itself teaches about humanity being in God's image He discusses in detail all of the biblical references to the image of God interacts extensively with other work on the topic and documents how misunderstandings of it have been so problematic People made according to God's image Kilner says have a special connection with God and are intended to be a meaningful reflection of him Because of sin they don't actually reflect him very well but Kilner shows why the popular idea that sin has damaged the image of God is mistaken He also clarifies the biblical difference between being God's image which Christ is and being in God's image which humans are He explains how humanity's creation and renewal in God's image are central respectively to human dignity and destiny Locating Christ at the center of what God's image means Kilner charts a constructive way forward and reflects on the tremendously liberating impact that a sound understanding of the image of God can have in the world today The Catholic Periodical and Literature Index, 1983

The Presbyterian Philosopher Douglas J. Douma, 2017-01-24 This is the story of Gordon Clark 1902-85 respected philosopher and prolific writer who held that Christianity as a logically coherent system is superior to all other philosophies Clark fought no wars and conquered no kingdoms Yet he was a leading figure in many theological wars fought for the Kingdom of God These battles for the minds and souls of men were every bit as crucial as physical wars between nations In an age of increasing secularization he put up an intellectual defense of the Christian faith This faith he believed was a system All of its parts link together a luxury of no other philosophy His stance shows a Christianity that is in fact intellectual not relying on appeals to emotion or experience In propounding this view he encountered frequent opposition not from the secular world but from within his own denomination This biography helps explain why his thought was so profound why resistance mounted against him and how his struggles impacted American Presbyterianism Additionally this book calls for a reappraisal of Clark's views which have been maligned by controversy Understanding and applying his views could significantly fortify Christians combating irrational and non systematic ideas prevalent in today's churches Books in Print, 1994

The Papers of Henry Laurens Henry Laurens, 1968 Trinitarian Personhood Bill Ury, 2002-02-01 The concept of the person is a crucial yet elusive component in the development of Western thought Few concepts are as replete with definitional difficulty Equally important is the application of a proper definition to all major Christian doctrinal commonplaces This work recognizing the insufficiency of modern theology to offer a cogent concept of person proposes a thorough historical and theological evaluation of Trinitarian personhood presented in three critical paradigm shifts by which one can measure the development of the idea of true personhood presented The three watershed eras of discernment of divine personhood presented are seen here as first the Cappadocian position of the mutual indwelling perichoresis of the divine persons is contrasted with Augustine's view of the place of relations in defining divine persons. Second, the ideas of Richard of St Victor whose caritas consummata and its relational implications met the nemesis of the Thomistic category of subsistent relations. And last, as an example of this important discussion in modernity, the German Heribert Mühlen's dynamic phenomenological approach to Trinitarian personhood is offered as a means of countering the implicit modalisms of Barth and Rahner. If the personhood of God is in essence Being in Another, then Christianity must apply that ontology to all sectors of reality to be fully Christian.
