Recovering an Adventist Approach to the Life and Mission of the Local Church Russell Burrill, 1997 The Struggle for Resources in Local Seventh-day Adventist Churches Travis Manners, 2013 Local churches need resources in order to operate effectively and thrive Yet within the Seventh day Adventist church system a large percentage of the tithes and offerings collected by its local congregations are redistributed away from these same congregations with only a small portion being returned in terms of staffing and support This impacts on the ministry and mission the local congregation can provide The Struggle for Resources shows that while the Seventh day Adventist Church must remain a global movement it cannot continue to do so at the expense of the local church Steps have been taken in the right direction in terms of funding assistance for new church buildings staffing for growth taking hold in some regions as well as the introduction of more flexible structures But is this enough to restore the balance Adventism with its global mandate must never forget that the local church is the church and the stronger the local churches become the stronger the entire body will be Mission Shift Kayle De Waal, 2017-01-01 Coming Back to the Vision at the Beginning of the Lord's Recovery Steve Isitt, 2014-09-22 This document comprises three writings that tell a history of the Lord's recovery that is officially hidden yet that ought to be told in the Local Churches to help them return to the vision they had in the beginning of receiving believers according to Christ alone nothing else Resourcing for Effective Mission and Ministry in Local Seventh-day Adventist Churches Travis Manners, 2009 Resourcing for effective mission and ministry in local Seventh day Adventist Churches A call for the global church to think and act locally studies the resources that are generated by yet then taken away from local Seventh day Adventist Churches While the Adventist church is a global movement this study has limited itself predominantly to the structural issues affecting the local church in Adventism within the Western or developed world It was found that 100% of the tithe that is given by a local congregation is remitted to higher administrative bodies of which as little as 40% or less in the case of larger congregations returns directly to the local church in the form of pastoral staffing On top of giving tithes Adventists give offerings of which only 38% or 20 offerings per year collected during the main service remains in that local church The local church retains nothing that is contributed for the main Sabbath school offering Much of the extra money collected goes either to missions or to support the well resourced administrative structures above the local church Mission Shift (2nd Edition) Kayle de Waal, 2022-03 Re-living the Adventist Story in the Local Church Jerry Moon, 2004 Where Are We Headed? William G. Johnsson, 2017-04-10 San Antonio was a tipping point in the history of the Seventh day Adventist Church History may come to regard the General Conference Session of 2015 as a moment comparable to the 1888 Minneapolis convocation when dramatically differing views of the church came face to face In Where Are We Headed William Johnsson looks at the life of the church after the summer of 2015 with two questions in mind What issues are shaping the Adventist church How shall we respond Johnsson served as the editor of the Adventist Review from

1982 to 2006 In this book he moves easily and effectively into the role of pastor and teacher that he knows so well and that Adventists have long appreciated
