McKnight, 1999 Jesus Christ in History and Scripture highlights two related bases for the current revolution in Jesus studies 1 a critically chastened world view that is satisfied with provisional results and 2 a creative or poetic use of the sources of study of Jesus The first part of the book shows that precritical critical and postcritical epochs and attitudes all alive today support different sorts of knowledge concerning Jesus historical reconstructions historic memory and appropriations imaginative poetic and artistic creations and theological formulations and that the Gospels themselves Support different sorts of knowledge and approaches The Gospels were composed by Christians who combined historical information and historic memory in imaginative ways to present a Jesus who was relevant to their congregations as he was to the earliest disciples The creative contribution that readers of the Gospels make in their reconstructions of Jesus is a recapitulation of the creative activities of the earliest evangelists The central section of the book provides a philosophical rationale for correlating the historical critical methods of biblical scholars and the rationalist methods of theologians and for correlating these modern Enlightenment modes of knowledge with feeling lived experience and praxis It also traces the attempts to do justice to the historical Jesus with particular attention to the different philosophical and theological presuppositions supporting the different attempts A final section discusses the values of non foundationist hermeneutical approaches for the broader questions of the use and authority of the Bible In the end ecumenical rather than divisive approaches are advocated Different ways of doing church and different ways of discovering and creating truth demand an ecumenical approach

Malum Ingolf U. Dalferth, 2022-05-31 The incursion of evil has always caused people to turn to the divine to gods or to a god in order to reorientate their life Ingolf U Dalferth studies the complexity of this procedure in three thought processes that deal with the central concepts in the Christian understanding of malum as privation a lack of good as evil doing and as a lack of faith In doing so he provides a detailed discussion of theories of theodicy the argument from freedom and the religious turn to God in which the author explores the traces of the discovery of God's goodness justness and love in connection with the malum experiences in ancient mythology and biblical traditions
