

Tree

- By Isdiah W Johnson

Oh great being standing tall
I wonder what you see
Your head above the clouds
And eyes across the Earth
I wonder how you're listening
To see and feel ages long past
To stand against the wind
But what if I were to ask you
Just how long it's really been

Was the world a different place
When you were only a foot tall?
Did the years go by in haste
As you ascended above all?

Do the lives of those you see seem fleeting
While you're rooted to the ground?
Does war and strife seem pointless
When eras come around?

What do you view me as
While I'm right here next to you?
Do my words reach upward to your ears
Does my wrinkled skin seem brand new?

If only I could stand so tall
So firm
So stoic and so proud
Then maybe one day you'd be inclined
To share your thoughts aloud

The Life Tree Poems Hardcover:

The Life Tree A P J Abdul Kalam, 2015-10-25 In this moving collection of poems A P J Abdul Kalam takes us into his world full of simplicity and beauty understanding and compassion Kalam's love for the country shines through as he inspires us and urges us to break the barriers of caste religion and language He wonders at God's creation in his paeans to nature while imparting a deeply personal touch to his observations of human relationships The Life Tree is an intimate introduction to Kalam the man his life and his inspirational thoughts

The Bioregional Imagination Cheryll Glotfelty, Karla Armbruster, Tom Lynch, 2012-03 Bioregionalism is an innovative way of thinking about place and planet from an ecological perspective Although bioregional ideas occur regularly in ecocritical writing until now no systematic effort has been made to outline the principles of bioregional literary criticism and to use it as a way to read write understand and teach literature The twenty four original essays here are written by an outstanding selection of international scholars The range of bioregions covered is global and includes such diverse places as British Columbia's Meldrum Creek and Italy's Po River Valley the Arctic and the Outback There are even forays into cyberspace and outer space In their comprehensive introduction the editors map the terrain of the bioregional movement including its history and potential to inspire and invigorate place based and environmental literary criticism Responding to bioregional tenets this volume is divided into four sections The essays in the Reinhabiting section narrate experiments in living in place and restoring damaged environments The Rereading essays practice bioregional literary criticism both by examining texts with strong ties to bioregional paradigms and by opening other less obvious texts to bioregional analysis In Reimagining the essays push bioregionalism to evolve by expanding its corpus of texts coupling its perspectives with other approaches or challenging its core constructs Essays in the Renewal section address bioregional pedagogy beginning with local habitat studies and concluding with musings about the Internet In response to the environmental crisis we must reimagine our relationship to the places we inhabit This volume shows how literature and literary studies are fundamental tools to such a reimagining
