Biblical Women's Voices in Early Modern England

Michele Osherow, 2016-12-14 Biblical Women's Voices in Early Modern England documents the extent to which portrayals of women writers rulers and leaders in the Hebrew Bible scripted the lives of women in early modern England Attending to a broad range of writing by Protestant men and women including John Donne Mary Sidney John Milton Rachel Speght and Aemilia Lanyer the author investigates how the cultural requirement for feminine silence informs early modern readings of biblical women's stories and furthermore how these biblical characters were used to counteract cultural constraints on women's speech Bringing to bear a commanding knowledge of Hebrew Scripture Michele Osherow presents a series of case studies on biblical heroines juxtaposing Old Testament stories with early modern writers and texts The case studies include an investigation of references to Miriam in Lady Mary Sidney's psalm translations an unpacking of comparisons between Deborah and Elizabeth I and importantly a consideration of the feminization of King David through analysis of his appropriation as a model for early modern women in writings by both male and female authors In deciphering the abundance of biblical characters citations and allusions in early modern texts Osherow simultaneously demonstrates how biblical stories of powerful women challenged the Renaissance notion that women should be silent and explores the complexities and contradictions surrounding early modern women their speech and their power theoretical issues at stake within the field but also the position of the field itself within the academy as well as its relationship to modern postmodern and Marxist discourses Contributors offer critiques on ahistorical and universalizing tendencies in postcolonial work and confront the need for scholars to attend to issues of class ideology and the effects of neocolonial practices Seeking to broaden the field's traditionally literary spectrum of methodologies these essayists take up large thematic issues to examine specific sites of colonial activities with all of their historical political and cultural significance Closing the volume is an insightful interview with Homi Bhabha in which he discusses postcolonial studies in the context of contemporary cultural politics and theory The Pre Occupation of Postcolonial Studies not only offers an overview of the discipline but also pushes and pulls at the edges of postcolonial studies offering a comprehensive view of the field's diversity of thought and envisioning clear pathways for its future Contributors Fawzia Afzal Khan Ali Behdad Homi Bhabha Daniel Boyarin Neil Larsen Saree Makdisi Joseph Massad Walter D.
