Making Meaning in Popular Song Theodore Gracyk, 2022-06-16 Winner ASA American Society for Aesthetics 2023 Outstanding Monograph Prize For Theodore Gracyk meaning in popular music depends as much on the context of reception and performer's intentions as on established musical and semantic practices Songs are structures that serve as the scaffolding for meaning production influenced by the performance decisions of the performer and their intentions Arguing against prevailing theories of meaning that ignore the power of the performance Gracyk champions the contextual relevance of the performer as well as novel messaging through creative repurposing of recordings Extending the philosophical insight that meaning is a function of use Gracyk explains how both the performance persona and the personal life of a song's performer can contribute to or undercut ethical and political aspects of a performance or recording Using Carly Simon's 'You're So Vain' Pink Floyd the emergence of the musical genre of post punk and the practice of cover versions Gracyk explores the multiple sometimes contradictory notions of authenticity applied to popular music and the conditions for meaningful communication He places popular music within larger cultural contexts and examines how assigning a performance or recording to one music genre rather than another has implications for what it communicates Informed by a mix of philosophy of art and philosophy of language Gracyk's entertaining study of popular music constructs a theoretical basis for a philosophy of meaning for songs

The Quest for Symbolic

Communication in Non-Human Animals

Ulrike Griebel,D. Kimbrough Oller ,Irene M. Pepperberg,2024-06-13

Human language is unique among animals We assume that complex cognitive capacities in general and language in particular evolved gradually and thus are manifest in different kinds and or degrees in other animals demonstrating social communication This assumption is supported by the fact that we can train social species from very different groups of animals e.g great apes dolphins dogs parrots to understand and in several cases even use abstract symbols for communication with humans and conspecifics Even simple grammatical rules for sequences of 2-3 symbols can be trained to be understood by several species e.g great apes dogs dolphins Even though human language training in these species takes considerable time and effort it convinces us that cognitive foundations for language are present in other species and given the relevant selection pressures symbolic communication could evolve in other species

Bluegrass and Religion Pete Ward,2025-09-04 Tracking music that first arose from a close relationship to the religion of the American South this book explores the ways in which they have taken on new meanings in a post religious environment Divided into two parts Pete Ward first gives a historical account of the relationship between old time and bluegrass music and religion These chapters explore how bluegrass music has been shaped and influenced by Christian experience and practice Drawing on archival research the book connects findings around the music to research on and the development of evangelicalism into the 20th Century and reactions against belief that were common in the folk revival The second part of the book is based on ethnographic field work from both the US and the UK including textual analysis of songs and participant observation of concerts and interviews with performers The differences of context between the US and the UK are considered as they relate to issues of post Christian sensibilities and non religion A particular focus is how what were specifically Christian songs become relocated in a post Christian environment Pete Ward explores how bluegrass raises a number of troubling political issues and what it means for the changing nature of the sacred and notions of non religion A key issue discussed is the continued significance of this music and why roots or nostalgia play a role and indeed how and why
