The Life And Work Of Jean Leon Gerome With A Catalogue Raisonne:

The Life and Work of Jean-Léon Gérôme Gerald M. Ackerman, 1986 Catalogue raisonné The Pygmalion Effect Victor I. Stoichita, 2008-06-15 Pygmalion's sculpture which the gods endowed with life marks according to this book perhaps the first instance in Western art of an image that exists on its own terms rather than simply imitating something else Stoichita delivers this image and its avatars from the shadow cast by art that merely replicates reality Masterpieces of European Painting, 1800-1920, in the Metropolitan Museum of Art Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), Kathryn Calley Galitz, 2007 Debussy and His World Jane F. Fulcher, 2001 Claude Debussy's Paris was factionalised politicised and litigious This text aims to capture the complexity of the composer's restless personal and artistic identity within the context of fin de siècle Paris Contemporary Art and Classical Myth Jennie Hirsh, 2017-07-05 Contemporary art is deeply engaged with the subject of classical myth Yet within the literature on contemporary art little has been said about this provocative relationship Composed of fourteen original essays Contemporary Art and Classical Myth addresses this scholarly gap exploring and in large part establishing the multifaceted intersection of contemporary art and classical myth Moving beyond the notion of art as illustration the essays assembled here adopt a range of methodological frameworks from iconography to deconstruction and do so across an impressive range of artists and objects Francis Al's Ghada Amer Wim Delvoye Luciano Fabro Joanna Frueh Felix Gonzales Torres Duane Hanson Yayoi Kusama Roy Lichtenstein Kara Walker and an iconic photograph by Richard Drew subsequently entitled The Falling Man Arranged so as to highlight both thematic and structural affinities these essays manifest various aspects of the link between contemporary art and classical myth while offering novel insights into the artists and myths under consideration Some essays concentrate on single works as they relate to specific myths while others take a broader approach calling on myth as a means of grappling with dominant trends in contemporary art Ovid on Screen Martin M. Winkler, 2020-01-30 The first study of Ovid especially his Metamorphoses as inherently visual literature explaining his pervasive importance in our visual media Landscape and Vision in Nineteenth-Century Britain and France Michael Charlesworth, 2017-07-05 A study of the ways landscape was perceived in nineteenth century Britain and France this book draws on evidence from poetry landscape gardens spectacular public entertainments novels and scientific works as well as paintings in order to develop its basic premise that landscape and the processes of perceiving it cannot be separated Vision embraces panoramic seeing from high places but also the seeing of ghosts and spectres when madness and hallucination impinge upon landscape The rise of geology and the spread of empires upset the existing comfortable orders of comprehension of landscape Reverie and imagination produced powerful interpretive actions while landscape in French culture proved central to the rejection of conservative classicism in favour of perceptual questioning of experience The experience of subjectivity proved central to the perception of landscape while the visual culture of landscape became of paramount importance to modernity during the period in question Portraits by Ingres Jean-Auguste-Dominique Ingres, National Gallery (Great Britain), 1999 Om portrætter af den franske maler Jean Auguste Dominique Ingres 1780-1867 Colour in Sculpture Hannelore Hägele, 2013-09-11 This book introduces the reader to the art of sculpture across five millennia up to the present and from the Near East to the west. In each of the eleven chapters a number of selected works are discussed to exemplify the circumstances and conditions for making pieces of sculpture objects peculiar to place, time and context. Within each cultural framework characteristics are observable that suggest various reasons for the use of colour in sculpture. These encompass local preferences, customs or cultural requirements and others point to an impulse to enhance the expression of the phenomenal. Whether colour is really necessary or even essential to sculpted works of art is a question especially pertinent since the Renaissance. Surface finishes of sculptural representations may allude to the sensory world of colour without even having pigment applied to them. What makes polychromy so special is that it functions as an overlay of another dimension that sometimes carries further encoded meaning. In nature the colour is integral to the given object. What the present survey suggests is that the relationship between colour and sculpture is a matter of intentional expression even where the colour is intrinsic as in the sculptor's materials.

The New York Market for French Art in the Gilded Age, 1867-1893 Leanne M. Zalewski, 2022-12-15 This transatlantic study analyses a missing chapter in the history of art collecting: the first art market bubble in the United States. In the decades following the Civil War, French art monopolized art collections across the United States. During this Gilded Age picture rush, the commercial art system—art dealers, galleries, auction houses, exhibitions, museums, art journals, press coverage, art histories and collection catalogues—established a strong foothold it has not relinquished to this day. In addition, a pervasive concern for improving aesthetics and providing the best contemporary art to educate the masses led to the formation not only of private art collections but also of institutions such as the Metropolitan Museum of Art and to the publication of art histories. Richly informed by collectors' and art dealers' diaries, letters, stock books, journals and hitherto neglected art histories, The New York Market for French Art in the Gilded Age, 1867-1893 offers a fresh perspective on this trailblazing era.
