Worlding the south Sarah Comyn, Porscha Fermanis, 2021-07-06 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license This collection brings together for the first time literary studies of British colonies in nineteenth century Australia New Zealand South Africa South America Southeast Asia and the South Pacific Islands Drawing on hemispheric studies Indigenous studies and southern theory to decentre British and other European metropolises the collection offers a groundbreaking challenge to national paradigms and traditional literary periodisations and canons by prioritising southern cultural networks in multiple regional centres from Cape Town to Dunedin Worlding the south examines the dialectics of literary worldedness in ways that recognise inequalities of power textual and material violence and literary and cultural resistance The collection revises current literary histories of the British world by arguing for the distinctiveness of settler colonialism in the southern hemisphere and by incorporating Indigenous diasporic and south south perspectives The Life and Work of David Livingstone and the Discovery of Victoria Falls Rhodes-Livingstone Museum,1955 Imperial Boredom Jeffrey A. Auerbach,2018-09-26 Imperial Boredom offers a radical reconsideration of the British Empire during its heyday in the nineteenth century Challenging the long established view that the empire was about adventure and excitement with heroic men and intrepid women eagerly spreading commerce and civilization around the globe this thoroughly researched engagingly written and lavishly illustrated account suggests instead that boredom was central to the experience of empire Combining individual stories of pain and perseverance with broader analysis Professor Auerbach considers what it was actually like to sail to Australia to serve as a soldier in South Africa or to accompany a colonial official to the hill stations of India He reveals that for numerous men and women from explorers to governors tourists to settlers the Victorian Empire was dull and disappointing Drawing on diaries letters memoirs and travelogues Imperial Boredom demonstrates that all across the empire men and women found the landscapes monotonous the physical and psychological distance from home debilitating the routines of everyday life wearisome and their work tedious and unfulfilling The empires early years may have been about wonder and marvel but the Victorian Empire was a far less exciting project Many books about the British Empire focus on what happened this book concentrates on how people felt
