Fletcher, 1996 Nineteenth-Century Photographs and Architecture Micheline Nilsen, 2017-07-05 Eschewing the limiting idea that nineteenth century architecture photography merely reflects functionality the objective of this collection is to reflect the aesthetic intellectual and cultural concerns of the time The essays hold appeal for social and cultural historians as well as those with an interest in the fields of art history urban geography history of travel and tourism Nineteenth century photographers captured what could be seen and what they wanted to be seen Their images informed of exploration progress heritage and destruction Architecture was a staple subject for the first generation of photographers as it patiently tolerated the long exposures of the early processes During its formative decades photography responded to evolutionary cultural forces of market and artistic production Photographs of architecture reflected a specific political or social context modulated through individual points of view For this reason the examination of each photographic image as a primary visual document and an aesthetic object rather than a technical milestone on a chronological trajectory affords a richer multi faceted approach to the extensive and complex corpus of photographs taken by photographers all over the world This project acknowledges the importance of technique in the early decades of photography but focuses on the thematic content of the material It places the photography of architecture in an international context under the contemporary critical lens sharpened by theoretical and cultural examinations of the topic Sir Banister Flechert's John Tarn, Peter Willis, John Musgrove, 1987 A History of Architecture on the Disparative Method Forrest Wilson, A History of Architecture for the Student, Craftsman and Amateur, Being a Comparative View of the Historical Styles from the Earliest Period, by Banister Fletcher, ... and Banister F. Fletcher ... Banister F. Fletcher, 1896 Writing Architectural History Aggregate Architectural History Collaborative, 2021-12-14 Over the past two decades scholarship in architectural history has transformed moving away from design studio pedagogy and postmodern historicism to draw instead from trends in critical theory focusing on gender race the environment and more recently global history connecting to revisionist trends in other fields With examples across space and time from medieval European coin trials and eighteenth century Haitian revolutionary buildings to Weimar German construction firms and present day African refugee camps Writing Architectural History considers the impact of these shifting institutional landscapes and disciplinary positionings for architectural history Contributors reveal how new methodological approaches have developed interdisciplinary research beyond the traditional boundaries of art history departments and architecture schools and explore the challenges and opportunities presented by conventional and unorthodox forms of evidence and narrative the tools used to write history
