The Everything Parent's Guide To Children With Dyslexia Jody Swarbrick, Abigail Marshall, 2004-09-10 Although dyslexia affects 10 to 15 percent of the U.S. population only 5 out of every 100 dyslexics are recognized and receive assistance If you're the parent of a child with dyslexia this statistic can be disconcerting especially when it comes to your child's academic performance and developing social skills The Everything Parent's Guide to Children with Dyslexia gives you a complete understanding of what dyslexia is how to identify the signs and what you can do to help your child This authoritative book seeks to alert parents to the special needs associated with this learning disability and offers practical suggestions for getting involved in the classroom The Everything Parent's Guide to Children with Dyslexia shows you how to Select the right treatment programs for your child Secure an IEP Choose a school and reduce homework struggles Develop your child's skills with the use of assistive technology Maintain open communication and offer support The Everything Parent's Guide to Children with Dyslexia is your first step in facing the challenges of dyslexia with a positive attitude

The Upside-down Kids Harold N. Levinson, Addie Sanders, 1991 The first of a series for dyslexic children and their parents written in story form Developmental-Behavioral Disorders Marvin I. Gottlieb, John E. Williams, 2013-03-07 Child development has always been a traditional component of well child care and a particular area of interest for pediatricians child neurologists and psychologists However it was not until the early 1960s that children with developmental disabilities i.e. chronic handicapping disorders became a major focus of public and professional attention During this period children with special needs were dramatically catapulted into the limelight and exceptional became the buzzword of the day Public and professional awareness of these issues reached new peaks and recognition of the potential psychosocial impairments of children with developmental disabilities created national anxiety A variety of factors contributed to an unprecedented societal advocacy for children with developmental problems 1 a national concern generated by President Kennedy's particular interest in mental retardation 2 increased activity and visibility of parent advocacy lobbying groups e.g.

the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities 3 the enactment of federal legislation designed to protect the rights of the handicapped e.g. PL94-142 and 4 the popularization of developmental behavioral disabilities by the various communications media Cumulatively these events precipitated a redefinition of the meaning of comprehensive health care for children resulting in an emphasis on the child's neurodevelopmental educational psychological and social needs For the pediatrician a myriad of new management responsibilities were mandated in addition to the traditional health care concerns
