Kanbur, 2012-10-10 By the dawn of the 21st century more than half of the world's population was living in urban areas This volume explores the implications of this unprecedented expansion in the world's most urbanized region Latin America exploring the new urban reality and the consequences for both Latin America and the rest of the developing world

The Government of Space (Routledge Revivals) Alison Ravetz, 2013-09-13 Britain's planning system began as town and country planning to repair the ravages of unplanned industrialism and promote ideal environments for the future Steering a course between left and right public control and for profit development it survived successive booms and busts broadening to include new concerns like ecology conservation and community participation By the 1986 when this book was first published the system's survival beyond the year 2000 was in doubt. It did endure but it is now under serious threat from the right which sees it as obstructing enterprise and the restoration of growth. It has been stripped of some of its core aims and mechanisms while as yet there is no agenda distinguishing growth that will be sustainable from growth which self-evidently is not. The Government of Space was written as a concise guide for the non-specialist to the origins and evolution of British planning, its intellectual pedigree, achievements and cruxes. It is an invaluable background to the state of planning and the cases for and against it today.

Remaking Cities (Routledge Revivals)
Alison Ravetz, 2013-10-08. This book published in 1980 is an iconoclastic account of one of the pillars of the welfare state: British town and country planning between 1945 and 1975. Always a fine balance between central control and market forces, it was challenged by strains within and between the environmental professions and protest by people dispossessed or alienated by re-shaped urban environments. Remaking Cities critiques the export of western style planning to the developing world and reviews initiatives rooted in different understandings of growth appearing in those years. Nearly forty years on, many of the same issues beset us: notably the depressingly familiar inner city problem despite countless reports, funds and programmes. But now our infrastructure and services, once publicly owned, are privatised and fragmented, and local government progressively relegated. The very core of planning development control is being pared in a struggle to regain the growth which led to our current crisis. This gives fresh importance to the need for new modes of creating liveable, sustainable environments emphasised in this important work.

Accumulation & Innovation Renelson Ribeiro Sampaio, 2021-11-16. This work focuses on the experience of a Brazilian cassava starch agro industry in developing its technological capabilities since 1917 when it was first established. Its main purpose is to explore how the process of technological progress, which occurred along with that industrialization, especially regarding the starch industry, has been determined by the following variables: I the pattern of capital accumulation; II the capability of the related technical base to both the promotion or absorption of technological changes; and III firms' strategies towards innovation.

Anthropology and Development Katy Gardner, David Lewis, 2015-02-20. Western aid is in decline. Non-traditional development actors from the developing countries and elsewhere are in the ascendant. A new set of global economic and political processes are shaping the twenty-first century. This book engages with nearly two decades of continuity and change in the development industry. In particular, it argues that while the world of international development has expanded since the 1990s, it has become more rigidly technocratic. The authors insist on a focus upon the core anthropological issues surrounding poverty and inequality and thus sharply criticise what are perceived as problems in the field. Anthropology and Development is a completely rewritten edition of the best-selling and critically acclaimed Anthropology Development and the Post Modern Challenge 1996. It serves as both an innovative reformulation of the field as well as a textbook for many undergraduate and graduate courses at leading international universities.

Cities of Tomorrow Peter Hall, 2014-04-17. Peter Hall's seminal Cities of Tomorrow remains an unrivalled account of the history of planning in theory and practice as well as of the social and economic problems and opportunities that gave rise to it Now comprehensively revised the fourth edition offers a perceptive critical and global history of urban planning and design throughout the twentieth century and beyond A revised and updated edition of this classic text from one of the most notable figures in the field of urban planning and design Offers an incisive insightful and unrivalled critical history of planning in theory and practice as well as of the underlying socio economic challenges and opportunities Comprehensively revised to take account of abundant new research published over the last decade Reviews the development of the modern planning movement over the entire span of the twentieth century and beyond Draws on global examples throughout and weaves the author s own fascinating experiences into the text to illustrate this authoritative story of urban growth

Between Marriage and the Market Homa Hoodfar,2023-04-28 Homa Hoodfar s richly detailed ethnography provides a rare glimpse into the daily life of Arab Muslim families Focusing on the impact of economic liberalization policies from 1983 to 1993 she shows the crucial role of the household in survival strategies among low income Egyptians Hoodfar an Iranian Muslim by birth presents research that undermines many of the stereotypes associated with traditional Muslim women Their apparent conservatism she says is based on rational calculation of the costs and benefits of working within formal and informal labor markets to secure household power She posits that increasing adherence to Islam and taking up the veil on the part of women has been partially motivated by women s desire to protect and promote their interests both within and beyond households Homa Hoodfar s richly detailed ethnography provides a rare glimpse into the daily life of Arab Muslim families Focusing on the impact of economic liberalization policies from 1983 to 1993 she shows the crucial role of the household in survival strategie

The Anthropology of Citizenship Sian Lazar,2013-11-11 The Anthropology of Citizenship introduces the theoretical foundations of and cutting edge approaches to citizenship in the contemporary world in local national and global contexts Key readings provide a cross cultural perspective on citizenship practices and an individual citizen s relationship with the state Introduces a range of exciting and cutting edge approaches to citizenship in the contemporary world Provides key readings for students and researchers who wish to gain an understanding of citizenship practices and an individual s relationship with the state in a global context Offers an anthropological perspective on citizenship the self and political agency with a focus on encounters between citizens and the state in education law development and immigration policy Provides students with an understanding of the theoretical foundations of citizenship as characterized by liberal and civic republican ideas of political belonging and exclusion Explores how citizenship is constructed at different scales and in different spaces Twenty five key writings identify what is a new and vibrant subfield within politics and anthropological research

The Urban Caribbean in an Era of Global Change Robert B. Potter,2017-03-02 Based on the author s first hand field research this book addresses the twin processes of urbanization and globalization as they affect the contemporary Caribbean region One of the key aims of the book is to focus attention on the fact that contrary to popular perceptions the Caribbean is highly urbanized Indeed statistics show that the region is more highly urbanized than the world taken as a whole In addition the fact that the Caribbean region has always been affected by processes of globalization in respect of its economy polity and society is central to the text The chapters cover pressing topics such as urban change and the evolution of mini metropolitan regions the importance of the mercantile and plantopolis frameworks tourism post modernity and the urban nexus economic change and the dual processes of global convergence and divergence and the nature of the relationships existing between the state the informal sector housing and environmental conditions In reality it is shown that the development of tourism and enclave manufacturing is leading to new forms of urban concentration and not spatial dispersal

Housing Africa's Urban Poor Philip Amis, Peter

Lloyd, 2018-09-03 Originally published in 1990 this book reveals the extent to which petty landlordism is developing not just in the African urban settlements that have sprung up but in government sponsored low cost housing estates The first part of the book traces African governments changing responses to urban growth since the 1960s The second presents case studies of housing markets and landlord tenant relations north and south of the Sahara The third examines World Bank involvement and the book ends by considering policy implications

Planning for Community-based Disaster Resilience

Worldwide Adenrele Awotona, 2016-10-14 We are witnessing an ever increasing level and intensity of disasters from Ecuador to Ethiopia and beyond devastating millions of ordinary lives and causing long term misery for vulnerable populations Bringing together 26 case studies from six continents this volume provides a unique resource that discusses in considerable depth the multifaceted matrix of natural and human made disasters It examines their bearing on the loss of human and productive capital the conduct of national policies and the setting of national development priorities and on the nature of international aid and bilateral assistance strategies and programs of donor countries In order to ensure the efficacy and appropriateness of their support for disaster survivors international agencies humanitarian and disaster relief organizations scholars non governmental organizations and members of the global emergency management community need to have insight into best practices and lessons learned from various disasters across national and cultural boundaries The evidence obtained from the numerous case studies in this volume serves to build a worldwide community that is better informed about the cultural and traditional contexts of such disasters and better enabled to prepare for respond to and finally rebuild sustainable communities after disasters in different environments The main themes of the case studies include the need for community planning and emergency management to unite in order to achieve the mutual aim of creating a sustainable disaster resilient community coupled with the necessity to enact and implement appropriate laws policies and development regulations for disaster risk reduction the need to develop a clear set of urban planning and urban design principles for improving the built environment s capacities for disaster risk management through the integration of disaster risk reduction education into the curricula of colleges and universities the need to engage the whole community to build inclusive governance structures as prerequisites for addressing climate change vulnerability and fostering resilience and sustainability Furthermore the case studies explore the need to link the existence and value of scientific knowledge accumulated in various countries with decision making in disaster risk management and the relevance and transferability from one cultural context to another of the lessons learned in building institutional frameworks for whole community partnerships
