Looking For God Vivan Passion Wardell, 2014-08-19 These poems are a reflection of author Vivan Passion Wardell's journey in life. This collection of spiritual lyrics highlights the past and ongoing challenges she faces as a God-fearing African American woman in a society where God is not always accepted. In other words, her poetry illustrates the tension between the morality imposed by man and commitment to her Heavenly Father. As Vivan continues her journey, these poems are conversations with her Heavenly Father as He guides her back into His arms under the cover of the Holy Trinity. In Looking for God, Vivan is searching and praying to find God as opaque visions flood her mind, a paradigm of her life suspended in time. She stops spinning, and she finds God deep within her heart, soul, and mind.

Principles of Fire Protection Chemistry and Physics Raymond Friedman, 2008-03-12 Fire Science FESHE Suing the Tobacco and Lead Pigment Industries Donald G. Gifford, 2010-06-02 The topic of how tort law evolved over time into a system that allowed for a moment at least a parens patriae form of massive litigation against corporations is exceedingly interesting and important. Gifford's treatment of this topic is highly informative, engaging, insightful, very current, and wise. David Owen, Carolina Distinguished Professor of Law and Director of Tort Law Studies, University of South Carolina. In Suing the Tobacco and Lead Pigment Industries, legal scholar Donald G. Gifford recounts the transformation of tort litigation in response to the challenge posed by victims of 21st century public health crises who seek compensation from the product manufacturers. Class action litigation promised a strategy for documenting collective harm, but an increasingly conservative judicial and political climate limited this strategy. Then in 1995, Mississippi attorney general Mike Moore initiated a parens patriae action on behalf of the state against cigarette manufacturers. Forty-five other states soon filed public product liability actions seeking both compensation for the funds spent on public health crises and the regulation of harmful products Gifford finds that courts through their refusal to expand traditional tort claims have resisted litigation as a solution to product caused public health problems Even if the government were to prevail the remedy in such litigation is unlikely to be effective Gifford warns furthermore that by shifting the powers to regulate products and to remediate public health problems from the legislature to the state attorney general parens patriae litigation raises concerns about the appropriate allocation of powers among the branches of government Donald G Gifford is the Edward M Robertson Research Professor of Law at the University of Maryland School of Law Proceedings ,1966 Proceedings-- the Third National Conference on Air Pollution ,1967 Public Health Service Publication United States.
