Ethics Christine Swanton,2021-04-15 Virtue ethics in its contemporary manifestation is dominated by neo Aristotelian virtue ethics primarily developed by Rosalind Hursthouse This version of eudaimonistic virtue ethics was ground breaking but has been subject to considerable critical attention Christine Swanton shows that the time is ripe for new developments and alternatives The target centred virtue ethics proposed by Swanton is opposed to orthodox virtue ethics in two major ways First it rejects the natural goodness metaphysics of Neo Aristotelian virtue ethics owed to Philippa Foot in favour of a hermeneutic ontology of ethics inspired by the Continental tradition and McDowell Second it rejects the well known qualified agent account of right action made famous by Hursthouse in favour of a target centred framework for assessing rightness of acts Swanton develops the target centred view with discussions of Dancy s particularism default reasons and thick concepts codifiability and its relation to the Doctrine of the mean Target Centred Virtue Ethics retains the pluralism of Virtue Ethics A Pluralistic View 2003 but develops it further in relation to a pluralistic account of practical reason This study develops other substantive positions including the view that target centred virtue ethics is developmental suitably embedded in an environmental ethics of dwelling and incorporates a concept of differentiated virtue to allow for roles narrativity cultural and historical location and stage of life Semantic Search over the Web Roberto De Virgilio,Francesco Guerra,Yannis Velegarakis,2012-08-04 The Web has become the world s largest database with search being the main tool that allows organizations and individuals to exploit its huge amount of information Search on the Web has been traditionally based on textual and structural similarities ignoring to a large degree the semantic dimension i e understanding the meaning of the query and of the document content Combining search and semantics gives birth to the idea of semantic search Traditional search engines have already advertised some semantic dimensions Some of them for instance can enhance their generated result sets with documents that are semantically related to the query terms even though they may not include these terms Nevertheless the exploitation of the semantic search has not yet reached its full potential In this book Roberto De Virgilio Francesco Guerra and Yannis Velegarakis present an extensive overview of the work done in Semantic Search and other related areas They explore different technologies and solutions in depth making their collection a valuable and stimulating reading for both academic and industrial researchers The book is divided into three parts The first introduces the readers to the basic notions of the Web of Data It describes the different kinds of data that exist their topology and their storing and indexing techniques The second part is dedicated to Web Search It presents different types of search like the exploratory or the path oriented alongside methods for their efficient and effective implementation Other related topics included in this part are the use of uncertainty in query answering the exploitation of ontologies and the use of semantics in mashup design and operation The focus of the third part is on linked data and more specifically on applying ideas originating in recommender systems on linked data management and on techniques for the efficiently querying answering on linkeddata
