The Killing Senses:

The Apocalypse Explained According to the Spiritual Sense Emanuel Swedenborg, 1859 The Routledge History of the Senses Andrew Kettler, Will Tullett, 2025-06-26 The Routledge History of the Senses presents readers with an overview of the field As well as pointing to directions for the future of the discipline it illustrates the extent to which the subject offers a considerable space for the exploration of diverse historical topics through the lens of sensory experience The handbook brings together essays and case studies from some of the leading academics on the history of the senses Together they not only chart topics and arguments in existing scholarship but introduce fresh methodologies for future analyses Specifically the chapters collectively show that the senses of the historical body often portray the intensity of the invasion of capital upon the functions of the mind throughout global history As a global history this work arrives at a time when many sensory historians are looking for a touchstone for moving beyond the often heavily Western frameworks that dominate the existing literature on the historical senses Not only will this book appeal to students and scholars of the history of senses visual studies art history food studies and many of the social sciences but individual chapters also offer useful reading material for a wide range of history modules and contemporary topics Modern Conflict and the Senses Nicholas J. Saunders, Paul Cornish, 2017-03-16 Modern Conflict and the Senses investigates the sensual worlds created by modern war focusing on the sensorial responses embodied in and provoked by the materiality of conflict and its aftermath The volume positions the industrialized nature of twentieth century war as a unique cultural phenomenon in possession of a material and psychological intensity that embodies the extremes of human behaviour from total economic mobilization to the unbearable sadness of individual loss Adopting a coherent and integrated hybrid approach to the complexities of modern conflict the book considers issues of memory identity and emotion through wartime experiences of tangible sensations and bodily requirements This comprehensive and interdisciplinary collection draws upon archaeology anthropology military and cultural history art history cultural geography and museum and heritage studies in order to revitalize our understandings of the role of the senses in conflict Finding Metaphor in Grammar and Usage Gerard J. Steen, 2007-11-14 Cognitive linguists have proposed that metaphor is not just a matter of language but of thought and that metaphorical thought displays a high degree of conventionalization In order to produce converging evidence for this theory of metaphor a wide range of data is currently being studied with a large array of methods and techniques Finding Metaphor in Grammar and Usage aims to map the field of this development in theory and research from a methodological perspective It raises the question when exactly evidence for metaphor in language and thought can be said to count as converging It also goes into the various stages of producing such evidence conceptualization operationalization data collection and analysis and interpretation The book offers systematic discussion of eight distinct areas of metaphor research that emerge as a result of approaching metaphor as part of grammar or usage language or thought and symbolic structure or cognitive process Making Sense of the Molly Maguires Kevin

Kenny,1998 A group of 20 Irish immigrants suspected of comprising a secret terrorist organization called the Molly Maguires were executed in Pennsylvania in the 1870s for the murder of 16 men This work offers a new interpretation of their dramatic story tracing the origins of the Molly Maguires to Ireland and explaining the growth of a particular structure of meaning
