Spinning The Threads Of Uneven Development Gender And Industrialization In Ireland During The Long:

Spinning the Threads of Uneven Development Jane Gray, 2005-01-01 Using the history of the Irish linen industry as a substantive case study Spinning the Threads of Uneven Development shows how gendered variations in the division of labor within and between households affected the economic development of the local and regional textile industry beginning with industrialization through to the transition to industrial capitalism Drawing on a wide range of sources from census records to folk poetry Jane Gray develops a dynamic model of gender that links the allocation of labor within households to macro socioeconomic change Expanding on recent literature of the salience of gender in the Irish political economy Spinning the Threads of Uneven Development is important reading for social and economic historians as well as those interested in the role of gender in economic development and Irish history

Ireland and the Industrial Revolution Andy Bielenberg, 2009-05-07 Chapter Introduction part Part I The linen industry The lead sector in the industrialisation of Ulster chapter 1 The evolution of the linen industry prior to mechanisation 1700 1825 chapter 2 Transition the first generation of wet spinners 1825 50 chapter 3 The high watermark of the Ulster linen industry 1850 1914 part Part II Southern comfort The food drink and tobacco industries chapter 4 The food processing industries chapter 5 Drink and tobacco part PART III Missing links Engineering shipbuilding and the dearth of mineral wealth chapter 6 The mining and engineering industries chapter 7 Shipbuilding An exception to the rule part Part IV Construction and the Irish economy chapter 8 The timber trade and the Irish building industry

Irish Materialisms Colleen Taylor, 2024 Irish Materialisms The Nonhuman and the Making of Colonial Ireland 1690 1830 is the first book to apply recent trends in new materialist criticism to Ireland It radically shifts familiar colonial stereotypes of the feminized racialized cottier according to the Irish peasantry s subversive entanglement with nonhuman materiality Each of the chapters engages a focused case study of an everyday object in colonial Ireland coins flax spinning wheels mud and pigs to examine how each object s unique materiality contributed to the colonial ideology of British paternalism and afforded creative Irish expression The main argument of Irish Materialisms is its methodology of reading literature through the agency of materiality and nonhuman narrative in order to gain a more egalitarian and varied understanding of colonial experience Irish Materialisms proves that new materialism holds powerful postcolonial potential Through an intimate understanding of the materiality Irish peasants handled on a daily basis this book presents a new portrait of Irish character that reflects greater empowerment resistance and expression in the oppressed Irish than has been previously recognized

Life Course, Work, and Labour in Global History Josef Ehmer, Carola Lentz, 2023-09-18 This multidisciplinary volume offers unique perspectives across the globe and throughout the centuries on the complexity of the nexus between work and the life course For industrialized regions from Germany and Western Europe to China and Japan it questions the widespread notion of an overall growing working life course instability since the 1970s For unindustrialized or industrializing regions from West Africa to state socialist East Central Europe as well as for transnational and transcontinental labour migrations it shows the enormous influence of the extended family and wider kin on individual pathways into and out of work For early modern Europe India and China and up to twentieth century state socialism and to current welfare states it stresses and concretizes the crucial impact of age and gender for both societal labour relations and individual work related decision making With all chapters based on original research the volume reflects a close cooperation between historians anthropologists and sociologists Its multidisciplinary approach finds expression in its methodological plurality reaching from archival research and sophisticated statistical analyses to biographical interviews and participant observation This mix allows to grasp the interaction between societal change and individual agency The

Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish History Alvin Jackson,2014-03 Draws from a wide range of disciplines to bring together 36 leading scholars writing about 400 years of modern Irish history A History of the Girl Mary O'Dowd,June Purvis,2018-04-10 This book is centered on the history of the girl from the medieval period through to the early twenty first century Authored by an international team of scholars the volume explores the transition from adolescent girlhood to young womanhood the formation and education of girls in the home and in school and paid work undertaken by girls in different parts of the world and at different times It highlights the value of a comparative approach to the history of the girl as the contributors point to shared attitudes to girlhood and the similarity of the experiences of girls in workplaces across the world Contributions to the volume also emphasise the central role of girls in the global economy from their participation in the textile industry in the eighteenth century through to the migration of girls to urban centres in twentieth century Africa and China History After Hobsbawm John Arnold,Matthew Hilton,Jan Rüger,2018 What does it mean and what might it yet come to mean to write history in the twenty first century History After Hobsbawm brings together leading historians from across the globe to ask what being an historian should mean in their particular fields of study Taking their cue from one of the previous century s greatest historians Eric Hobsbawm and his interests across many periods and places the essays approach their subjects with an underlying sense of what role an historian might seek to play and attempt to help twenty first century society understand how we got here They present new work in their sub fields but also point to how their specialisms are developing how they might further grow in the future and how different areas of focus might speak to the larger challenges of history both for the discipline itself and for its relationship to other fields of academic inquiry Like Hobsbawm the authors in this collection know that history matters They speak to both the past and the present and in so doing introduce some of the most exciting new lines of research in a broad array of subjects from the medieval period to the present The Routledge History of Irish America Cian T. McMahon,Kathleen P. Costello-Sullivan,2024-07-23 This volume gathers over 40 world class scholars to explore the dynamics that have shaped the Irish experience in America from the seventeenth to the twenty first centuries From the early 1600s to the present over 10 million Irish people emigrated to various points around the globe Of them more than six million settled in what we now call the United States of America Some were emigrants some were exiles and some were refugees but they all brought with them habits ideas and beliefs from Ireland which played a role in shaping their new home Organized chronologically the chapters in this volume offer a cogent blend of historical perspectives from the pens of some of the world's leading scholars Each section explores multiple themes including gender race identity class work religion and politics This book also offers essays that examine the literary and or artistic production of each era These studies investigate not only how Irish America saw itself or in turn was seen but also how the historical moment influenced cultural representation It demonstrates the ways in which Irish Americans have connected with other groups such as African Americans and Native Americans and sets Irish America in the context of the global Irish diaspora This book will be of value to undergraduate and graduate students as well as instructors and scholars interested in American History Immigration History Irish Studies and Ethnic Studies more broadly

The 'Irish' Family Linda Connolly, 2014-10-24

When situated in the wider European context the Irish family has undergone a process of profound transformation and rapid change in very recent decades Recent data cites a significant increase in one parent households and a high non marital birth rate for instance alongside the emergence of cohabitation divorce same sex families and reconstituted families At the same time the majority of children in Ireland still live in a two parent family based on marriage and the divorce rate in Ireland is comparatively lower than other European countries 21st century family life is in reality characterised by continuity and change in the Irish context This book seeks to understand interpret and theorise family life in Ireland by providing a detailed analysis of historical change demographic trends fertility and reproduction marriage separation and divorce sexualities children and young people class gender motherhood intergenerational relations grandparents ethnicity globalisation technology and family practices A comprehensive analysis of key developments and trends over the course of the twentieth and twenty first centuries is provided
