metaphoric descriptions of death and dying reflect taboos concealment and other considerations not found in figurative descriptions of life producing distinct forms of euphemism frames and mental spaces particular to conceptualizations of death The first part takes a closer look at metonymy to illuminate the ways in which it allows a person to zoom in on death s more inoffensive dimensions or zoom out from its more troubling aspects The second part focuses on the more palatable concepts which metaphorically structure and help to better understand death A wide range of classical and modern examples from European Asian Australian and African languages and cultures showcase points of overlap and divergence Opening up new lines of inquiry into research on death and dying and offering a linguistically focused complement to anthropological and religious studies on the topic this book will be of interest to scholars in cognitive linguistics sociolinguistics cross cultural communication and cultural studies
