Torpedo Katherine C. Epstein,2014-01-02 In a bold reappraisal Katherine Epstein uncovers the origins of the military industrial complex not in the Cold War but in the decades before WWI as the United States and Great Britain struggled to perfect a crucial new weapon the self propelled torpedo Torpedo R D sparked intellectual property battles that reshaped national security law A Brief Guide to The Sound of Music Paul Simpson,2015-03-19 Everyone has heard the songs from The Sound of Music by Rodgers and Hammerstein The stage show was a roaring success in New York and London and the much loved feature film directed by Hollywood veteran Robert Wise continues to be a staple of television schedules 50 years after its release in 1965 In this fascinating and wide ranging book Paul Simpson explores the incredible story of the Von Trapp family and their escape from the Third Reich in all its incarnations from real life adventure to book to stage to award winning film to cultural phenomenon He discusses the stage show the many differences that were incorporated into the fictionalisation of the tale and how that story was brought to the screen He also looks at the numerous other ways in which the Von Trapp s story has been told including the two West German movies from the 1950s and the extensive forty part Japanese anime series from the 1990s to explain why the story of the Von Trapp family has appealed to so many generations Praise for A Brief Guide to Stephen King The best book about King and his work I have ever read Books Monthly A Bibliography of British History, 1914-1989 Keith Robbins,American Historical Association,Royal Historical Society (Great Britain),1996 Containing over 25 000 entries this unique volume will be absolutely indispensable for all those with an interest in Britain in the twentieth century Accessibly arranged by theme with helpful introductions to each chapter a huge range of topics is covered There is a comprehensive index Hellions of the Deep Robert Gannon,1996-01-01 Ultimately World War II was the first war won by technology but within only a few weeks after the war began the U S Navy realized its torpedo program was a dismal failure Submarine skippers reported that most of their torpedoes were either missing the targets or failing to explode if they did hit The United States had to work fast if it expected to compete with the Japanese Long Lance the biggest and fastest torpedo in the world and Germany's electric and sonar models Hellions of the Deep tells the dramatic story of how Navy planners threw aside the careful procedures of peacetime science and initiated radical research gathering together the nation's best scientists and engineers in huge research centers and giving them freedom of experimentation to create sophisticated weaponry with a single goal winning the war The largest center for torpedo work was a requisitioned gymnasium at Harvard University where the most famous names in science worked with the best graduate students from all around the country at the business of war They had to produce tangible weapons to consider production and supply tactics to take orders from the military and in many cases also to teach the military how to use the weapons they developed World War II grew into a chess match played by scientists and physicists and it became the only war in history to be won by weapons invented during the conflict For this book Robert Gannon conducted numerous interviews over a twenty year period with scientists engineers physicists submarine skippers and Navy bureaucrats all involved in the development of the advanced weapons technology that won the war While the search for new weapons was deadly serious stretching imagination and resourcefulness to the limit each day the need was obvious American ships were being blown up daily just outside the Boston harbor These oral histories reveal that in retrospect surprising even to those who went through it the search for the hellions of the deep was for many the most exciting period of their lives Unmanned Systems of
