Haverhill Albert Le Roy Bartlett, 2015-08-04 Excerpt from Haverhill An Historical Address I am going to tell you as well as I can in the time that your patience allows me in simple lines the story of this old city that was named Haverhill at the very beginning of its settlement two hundred and seventy five years ago and that occupies the site of an Indian village called Pentucket long abandoned when the white settlers first came here So rich is this history so full of traditions so abounding in delightful and eventful by ways is this story that were I to relate it all the night would fall and the morrow come and the morrow s morrow before I reached the end Much therefore that I would tell you I must leave untold or better I must invite you to read it yourselves in the abundant literature that contains it However imperfectly I may perform my task I hope to help you to appreciate thoughtfully the high purpose the courage the indomitable will that planted a home here in the wilderness that bore hardship and fatigue that braved dangers that withstood tyranny that fought for freedom that gave sacrifices of its dearest for national honor and unity that painfully planted the seed of industries and prosperity and left the priceless inheritance of it all for our enjoyment About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works History of Haverhill, N. J. Q. Bittinger, 2017-10-31 Excerpt from History of Haverhill N H It is my intention in the following pages to write the history of Haverhill from its first discovery by the white man down to the present time The earlier years of this history from the first occupancy of the Cohos Country when Johnston and Pattie spent the winter of 1761 2 at the Ox Bow must necessarily be somewhat incomplete as both the records of the Proprietors as well as the records of the Town are in some places imperfect and even when they are complete and uninterrupted they record only the public acts of the Proprietors and of the Town and give little information except incidentally of the character of the people and the spirit of the times About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
