Transactions of the Port Talbot Historical Society Vol. iv Port Talbot Historical Society, 1990 Papers and Records - Ontario Historical Society Ontario Historical Society, 1927 The History and Archaeology of Ports Gordon Jackson, 1983 Fifty Years in Politics and the Law John Morris, 2011-09-30 There is no other inside account from a minister who was at the Cabinet Committee table drafting devolution proposals first in his role as Welsh Secretary and then as Attorney General He is one of the very few who served as a minister in four Labour governments under Harold Wilson Jim Callaghan and Tony Blair between 1965-1999 His account put in a narrative form of the role of the Law Officers in the Kosovo War is unique where as Attorney General he developed the doctrine of armed intervention in the affairs of another state without a Security Council Resolution in order to avert an overwhelming humanitarian disaster culminating in his appearance as Counsel for the United Kingdom in the International Court of Justice in the Hague the United Kingdom being one of the defendants During over fifty years in both Houses of Parliament he rode the two horses politics and the law simultaneously and when not a Minister of the Crown practised the criminal law as a barrister and sat as a Crown Court Recorder His main political mission has been the working out the basis for legislative proposals for setting up all Wales institutions and his battles with Ministers and Parliamentary colleagues are described in detail by someone who was there His proposals were defeated overwhelmingly in a Welsh Referendum when he commented When you see an elephant on the doorstep you know it s there A subsequent Act mainly based on his original proposals with some additions was eventually agreed to by a paper thin majority in a second Welsh Referendum and by a substantial majority giving wider powers to the Welsh Assembly in a third Referendum

New Perspectives on Welsh Industrial History Louise Miskell, 2019-12-15 This volume tells a story of Welsh industrial history different from the one traditionally dominated by the coal and iron communities of Victorian and Edwardian Wales Extending the chronological scope from the early eighteenth to the late twentieth century and encompassing a wider range of industries the contributors combine studies of the internal organisation of workplace and production with outward facing perspectives of Welsh industry in the context of the global economy The volume offers important new insights into the companies the employers the markets and the money behind some of the key sectors of the Welsh economy from coal to copper and from steel to manufacturing and challenges us to reconsider what we think of as constituting industry in Wales

A Guide to the Industrial Archaeology of the Swansea Region Stephen Hughes, Stephen R. Hughes, Paul Rupert Reynolds, 1989 The Royal Commission on the Ancient and Historical Monuments of Wales has a leading national role in developing and promoting understanding of the archaeological built and maritime heritage of Wales as the originator curator and supplier of authoritative information for individual corporate and governmental decision makers researchers and the general public
