The Definitive Journals Of Lewis And Clark Volume 11 Joseph Whitehouse:

The Definitive Journals of Lewis and Clark Gary E. Moulton, 2004-01-01 This landmark volume contains the most complete listing and presentation of the plant specimens collected by the Lewis and Clark expedition All but one of the plants were collected by Meriwether Lewis the expedition s botanist The collection how ever was nearly lost over the years when it was scattered among various botanists who intended to catalog the expedition s scientific discoveries Fortunately for many years the specimens have been in the care of major institutions principally the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia The 239 extant items are brought together in one book for the first time This indispensable volume will assist researchers and enthusiasts hoping to identify each plant s date and place of collection and other information such as plant habitat and ethnobotanical use

The Definitive Journals of Lewis and Clark John Ordway, 2003-01-01 The dependable and matter of fact John Ordway was one of the mainstays of the Corps of Discovery promoted early on to sergeant and serving as an able leader during the captain s absence Fascinated by the peoples and places he encountered Ordway became the most faithful journalist on the expedition recording information not found elsewhere and making an entry for every day during the expedition Ordway later married and became a prosperous owner of two plantations in Missouri His honest and informative account which remained undiscovered for a century offers an unforgettable glimpse of an enlisted man s experiences and observations as he and the Corps of Discovery embarked on the journey of a lifetime In contrast to Ordway s extensive chronicle stands the far too brief but intriguingly detailed eyewitness account of Sergeant Charles Floyd the only member to die on the expedition The journals of John Ordway and Charles Floyd are part of the celebrated Nebraska edition of the complete journals of the Lewis and Clark expedition which feature a wide range of new scholarship on all aspects of the expedition from geography to Indian cultures and languages to plants and animals

The Definitive Journals of Lewis and Clark Meriwether Lewis, William Clark, Gary E. Moulton, 2004-01-01 In twelve remarkable volumes Gary E Moulton has edited the journals of the Lewis and Clark expedition of 1804-6 thus making clear and accessible to all readers the plethora of maps and words with which Meriwether Lewis and William Clark documented one of the greatest ventures of discovery in American history With the Comprehensive Index the thirteenth volume Moulton completes his work and offers everyone who consults the Journals a complete and detailed means of locating specific passages references and particular people or places within the larger work Throughout the edition his guiding principles have been clarity and ease of use Consequently the notes are indexed more thoroughly here than in most works and include modern place names modern denominations for Indian nations and current popular and scientific names for various cited species This volume also contains a list of corrections for earlier volumes

The Definitive Journals of Lewis & Clark: Through the Rockies to the Cascades Meriwether Lewis, Gary E. Moulton, 2002-01-01 Since the time of Columbus explorers dreamed of a water passage across the North American continent President Thomas Jefferson shared this dream He conceived the Corps of Discovery to travel up the Missouri River to the Rocky Mountains and westward along possible river routes to the Pacific Ocean Meriwether Lewis and William Clark led this expedition of 1804-6 Along the way they filled hundreds of notebook pages with observations of the geography Indian tribes and natural history of the trans Mississippi West The late summer and fall months of 1805 were the most difficult period of Lewis and Clark's journey This volume documents their travels from the Three Forks of the Missouri River in present day Montana to the Cascades of the Columbia River on today's Washington Oregon border including the expedition's progress over the rugged Bitterroot Mountains along the nearly impenetrable Lolo Trail Along the way the explorers encounter Shoshones Flatheads Nez Perces and other Indian tribes some of whom had never before met white people

The Definitive Journals of Lewis and Clark Patrick Gass, 2003-01-01 An accomplished carpenter and boat builder Patrick Gass proved to be an invaluable and well liked member of the Lewis and Clark expedition Promoted to sergeant after the death of Charles Floyd Gass was almost certainly responsible for supervising the building of Forts Mandan and Clatsop His records of those forts and of the earth lodges of the Mandans and Hidatsas are particularly detailed and useful Gass was the last survivor of the Corps of Discovery living until 1870 long enough to see trains cross a continent that he had helped open His engaging and detailed journal became the first published account of the Lewis and Clark expedition Gass's journal joins the celebrated Nebraska edition of the complete journals of the Lewis and Clark expedition which feature a wide range of new scholarship dealing with all aspects of the expedition from geography to Indian cultures and languages to plants and animals

Dunlay, 2002-01-01 Since the time of Columbus explorers dreamed of a water passage across the North American continent President Thomas Jefferson shared this dream He conceived the Corps of Discovery to travel up the Missouri River to the Rocky Mountains and westward along possible river routes to the Pacific Ocean Meriwether Lewis and William Clark led this expedition of 1804-6 Along the way they filled hundreds of notebook pages with observations of the geography Indian tribes and natural history of the trans Mississippi West After a rainy winter the Corps of Discovery turned homeward in March 1806 from Fort Clatsop on the mouth of the Columbia River Detained by winter snows they camped among the friendly Nez Perces in modern west central Idaho Lewis and Clark attended to sick Indians and continued their scientific observations while others in the party hunted and socialized with Native peoples

The Journals of the Lewis and Clark Expedition: The journals of Joseph Whitehouse, May 14, 1804-April 2, 1806 Meriwether Lewis, William Clark, Gary E. Moulton, Thomas W. Dunlay, 1983-01-01 The University of Nebraska Press editions of The Journals of the Lewis and Clark Expedition are widely heralded as a lasting achievement In all thirteen volumes are projected which together will provide a complete record of the expedition Volume 11 contains the journals of expedition member Joseph Whitehouse His journals are the only surviving account written by an army private on the expedition and he is one of the least known of the expedition party Following the expedition Whitehouse had a checkered army career and he disappeared after 1817 His capabilities have been unfairly slighted by previous commentators despite his narrative skill and evidence that he was a man of a lively and curious mind His extensive journal entries contribute to our understanding of the epochal journey and of the unusual group of men who undertook one of the defining events in our history The last part of his journals was not found until 1966 this is the first publication of the complete record of his account The Definitive
