The Encyclopedia of Christianity Erwin Fahlbusch, Geoffrey William Bromiley, 1999 The Encyclopedia of Christianity is the first of a five volume English translation of the third revised edition of Evangelisches Kirchenlexikon Its German articles have been tailored to suit an English readership and articles of special interest to English readers have been added The encyclopedia describes Christianity through its 2000 year history within a global context taking into account other religions and philosophies A special feature is the statistical information dispersed throughout the articles on the continents and over 170 countries Social and cultural coverage is given to such issues as racism genocide and armaments while historical content shows the development of biblical and apostolic traditions This comprehensive work while scholarly is intended for a wide audience and will set the standard for reference works on Christianity Outstanding reference sources 2000 American Libraries May 2000 Comp by the Reference Sources Committee RUSA ALA

The Myth of Ham in Nineteenth-Century American Christianity S. Johnson, 2004-12-02 This monograph is an original study of what is commonly termed the American myth of Ham It examines black and white Americans recourse to the biblical character of Ham as a cultural strategy for explaining racial origins Previous studies in the area have been restricted to associating the Hamitic idea with pro slavery arguments whereas the thesis of this project reveals a fundamental irony black American Christians who reinforced the meanings of illegitimacy by appealing to Ham as the ancestor of the race Dobson and Democratization Brett Ralph Klassen, 2010 Ask an evangelical where she would go for authoritative counsel and the response is more likely to be biblical than ecclesiastical in orientation Many evangelicals are uncertain about clerical authority in part because the international evangelical movement lacks a unifying authoritative church government The question is how do contemporary evangelicals select or identify religious authorities This project seeks to answer this question for American evangelicalism in particular It does so by juxtaposing the thesis of Nathan O Hatch's The Democratization of American Christianity with the rise to influence of child psychologist James C Dobson Hatch has argued that religious populism remains among the oldest and deepest impulses of American life Although Democratization is explicitly concerned with religion in the early republic Hatch concludes that a strong populist impulse continues to dominate American Christianity Parallels between Dobson's ascension and the Democratization thesis support Hatch's epilogic assertion In view of the similarities between Dobson's impact and that of his populist forbearers this project's reply to the question How do contemporary American evangelicals select authorities is By popular acclaim The Riddle of Grace

Scott Hoezee, 1996 The author reminds us of what it means to be saved by grace but in this work he is more concerned to explore what it means to live graciously as a result of that salvation With this emphasis he breaks new ground in the literature of grace The Routledge Handbook of Religion and American Culture Chad E. Seales, 2025-03-31 The Routledge Handbook of Religion and American Culture explains where religion is made in the United States It offers essays profiling cultural sites including energy industry public life music arts and entertainment and life and death These sites organize the volume's 31 chapters demonstrating how cultural religion has been constructed and performed in specific historical and ethnographic case studies This volume offers a much needed resource for Religious Studies scholars and students interested in the study of religion and culture in the United States as well as those in American Studies

Anthropology of Religion Sociology of Religion Material Culture Studies Environmental Studies and History God in the Wasteland David F. Wells, 1994 In this sequel to the widely praised No Place for Truth David Wells calls for the restoration of the church based on a fresh encounter with the transcendent God By looking anew at the way God's transcendence and immanence have been taken captive by modern appetites Wells argues convincingly for a reform of the evangelical world

History and the Christian Historian Ronald Wells, 1998 What is the relation of faith to history What difference should Christian commitment make to historical investigation In this volume thirteen widely respected scholars consider such important questions and demonstrate the implications of a Christian perspective for the study of history and historiography

Religious Knowledge and Positioning David Käbis, Kerstin von der Krone, Christian Wiese, 2023-11-06 What should one know in order to position oneself vis vis other religions and confessions What is religious knowledge and how should it be taught This volume sheds light on educational media in Judaism and Christianity such as catechisms children's bibles and sermons as well as Jewish and Protestant teacher training in 19th century Germany and explores the methodological potentials of educational media as a source for inter religious history It reflects on broader processes of knowledge production and the impact of science and scholarship on religious education and knowledge production within Christian and Jewish contexts The volume draws on an interdisciplinary conference that took place in 2018 and brought together scholars associated with two transdisciplinary research projects The German Israeli research group Innovation through Tradition Jewish Educational Media and Cultural Transformation in the Face of Modernity associated with the German Historical Institute Washington and Tel Aviv University funded by the German Research Foundation DFG 2014 2019 and the LOEWE research hub Religious Positioning Modalities and Constellations in Jewish Christian and Muslim Contexts at Goethe University Frankfurt and Justus Liebig University Giessen funded by the Hessian Ministry of Science and Art 2015 2021
