

Letter from a Freedman to his Old Master.

[The following is a genuine document. It was dictated by the old servant, and contains his ideas and forms of expression.—Eds. Com.]

DARTON, Outo, August 7, 1865.

To my Old Master, Colonel P. H. Anderson, Big Spring, Tennessee:

Sir—I got your letter and was glad to find that you had not forgotten Jordan, and that you wanted me to come back and live with you again—promising to do better for me than any body else can. I have often felt uneasy about you. I thought the Yankees would have hung you long before this for harboring the rebs. they found at your house. I suppose they never found out about your going to Colonel Martin's to kill the Union soldier that was left by his company in their stable. Although you shot at me twice before I left you, I did not want to hear of your being hurt, and am glad you are still living. It would do me good to go back to the dear old home again and see Miss Mary and Miss Martha and Allen, Esther, Green and Lee. Give my love to them all, and tell them I hope we will meet in the better world, if not in this. I would have gone back to see you

Slave Letters:

The Slave Letters Michal D. Connor, 2007-07 Illustrated with original photographs and drawings of slaves from the nineteenth century United States this book collects poems and letters of former slaves alongside interviews and testimonies making this an incomparable document of a horrific time in American history Slave Testimony John W. Blassingame, 1977-06-01 A magisterial and landmark work one that merits wide and thoughtful readership not only by historians but more important by those of us who count on historians to tell us truly about our past New York Times A testament to the resilience of the black spirit faced with a primitive and largely conscienceless regime Bertram Wyatt Brown South Atlantic Quarterly This volume does much more than merely present a rich collection of judiciously selected and skillfully edited sources of the history of slavery in the process it reveals a host of large as life slaves and ex slaves Kale the precocious eleven year old Mende of the Amistad rebels who quickly learned to write eloquent and polished English Harry McMillan of Beaufort South Carolina who talked frankly of black love and marriage Charlotte Burris of Kentucky so afflicted that her husband was permitted to buy her for only 25 00 as much as I was worth she self effacingly said and many more This illumination of the slave as an individual is really what the book is all about Journal of Southern History A mammoth presentation of two centuries of slave recollections extraordinary firsthand narratives that should become the premier reference volume on the slave experience for years to come Columbia SC State The largest collection of annotated and authenticated accounts of slaves ever published in one volume So valuable a compilation is this study that its real worth cannot be measured for some time to come Richmond News Leader Dear Master Randall M. Miller, 1990-10-01 Dear Master is a rare firsthand look at the values self perception and private life of the black American slave The fullest known record left by an American slave family this collection of more than two hundred letters including seven discovered since the book's original appearance reveals the relationship of two generations of the Skipwith family with the Virginia planter John Hartwell Cocke The letters dating from 1834 to 1865 fall into two groups The first were written by Peyton Skipwith and his children from Liberia where they settled after being freed in 1833 by Cocke a devout Christian and enlightened slaveholder The letters which tell of harsh frontier life reveal the American values the Skipwiths took with them to Africa and express their faith in Liberia's future and pride in their accomplishments The second group of letters written by George Skipwith and his daughter Lucy originate from Cocke's Alabama plantation an experimental work community to which Cocke sent his most talented responsible slaves to prepare them for the moral and educational challenges of emancipation George a privileged bondsman was a slave driver His letters about the management of the plantation include reports on the slaves conduct and any disciplinary actions he took Readers can sense George's pride in his work and also his ambivalence toward his role as leader in the slave hierarchy Lucy Cocke's chief domestic slave was the plantation nurse and teacher Her letters filled with details about spiritual familial and health matters also display her skill at exploiting her master's trust and her uncommon boldness for she spoke against whites to her master when she felt they hampered his slaves education Dear Master affirms that these slaves and former slaves were not simply victims they were actors in a complex human drama The letters imply trust and affection between master and slave but there were other motives as well for the letter writing The Liberian Skipwiths needed American made supplies moreover the whole family may have viewed their relationship with Cocke as a chance to help free other slaves In his new preface Miller reevaluates his book in light of changes in the historiography of American slavery over the past decade

Slave Narratives after Slavery William L. Andrews, 2011-04-25 The pre Civil War autobiographies of famous fugitives such as Frederick Douglass William Wells Brown and Harriet Jacobs form the bedrock of the African American narrative tradition After emancipation arrived in 1865 former slaves continued to write about their experience of enslavement and their upward struggle to realize the promise of freedom and citizenship Slave Narratives After Slavery reprints five of the most important and revealing first person narratives of slavery and freedom published after 1865 Elizabeth Keckley's controversial Behind the Scenes 1868 introduced white America to the industry and progressive outlook of an emerging black middle class The little known Narrative of the life of John Quincy Adams When in Slavery and Now as a Freeman 1872 gave eloquent voice to the African American working class as it migrated from the South to the North in search of opportunity William Wells Brown's My Southern Home 1880 retooled the image of slavery delineated in his widely read antebellum Narrative and offered his reader a first hand assessment of the South at the close of Reconstruction Lucy Ann Delaney used From the Darkness Cometh the Light 1891 to pay tribute to her enslaved mother and to exemplify the qualities of mind and spirit that had ensured her own fulfillment in freedom Louis Hughes's Thirty Years a Slave 1897 spoke for a generation of black Americans who perceiving the spread of segregation across the South sought to remind the nation of the horrors of its racial history and of the continued dedication of the once enslaved to dignity opportunity and independence

The WPA Oklahoma Slave Narratives T. Lindsay Baker, Julie Philips Baker, 1996 I never talk to nobody bout this was the response of one aged African American when asked by a Works Project Administration field worker to share memories of his life in slavery and after emancipation He and other ex slaves were uncomfortable with the memories of a time when black and white lives were interwoven through human bondage Yet the WPA field workers overcame the old people's reticence and American West scholars T Lindsay Baker and Julie P Baker have collected all the known WPA Oklahoma slave narratives in this volume for the first time including fourteen never published before Their careful editorial notes detail what is known about the interviewers and the process of preparing the narratives The interviews were made in the late 1930s in Oklahoma Although many African Americans had relocated there after emancipation in 1865 some interviewees had been slaves of Cherokees Chickasaws Choctaws or Creeks in the Indian Territory Their narratives constitute important primary sources on the foodways agricultural practices and home life of Oklahoma Indians This definitive indexed edition will be an important resource for Oklahoma and Southwest historians as well as those interested in the history of African Americans slavery and Oklahoma's Five Tribes For those studying the generation of African American men and women who over a century ago initiated black life in Oklahoma the slave narratives are a major source of collective memory published in the nineteenth century The writings of Moses Roper 1838 Lunsford Lane 1842 Moses Grandy 1843 and the Reverend Thomas H Jones 1854 provide a moving testament to the struggles of enslaved people to affirm their human dignity and ultimately seize their liberty Introductions to each narrative provide biographical and historical information as well as explanatory notes Andrews s general introduction to the collection reveals that these narratives not only helped energize the abolitionist movement but also laid the groundwork for an African American literary tradition that inspired such novelists as Toni Morrison and Charles Johnson

Gender, Genre, and Race in Post-Neo-Slave Narratives Dana Renee Horton, 2022-08-16 Gender Genre and Race in Post Neo Slave Narratives provides an innovative conceptual framework for describing representations of slavery in twenty first century American cultural productions Covering a broad range of narrative forms ranging from novels like The Known World to films like 12 Years a Slave and the music of Missy Elliott Dana Renee Horton engages with post neo slave narratives a genre she defines as literary and visual texts that mesh conventions of postmodernity with the neo slave narrative Focusing on the characterization of black women in these texts Horton argues that they are portrayed as commodities who commodify enslaved people a fluid and complex characterization that is a foundational aspect of postmodern identity and emphasizes how postmodern identity restructures the conception of slave owners
