

THE SLAVE ROUTE

The three basic components are structure, resources of finance and geography. The first defines how legally the bank can do the business, structurally determined in formal history. The second one is the first form of organization. The third finally leads to an economic and administrative type of various organizations. These different aspects are increasingly strong, the more formal, fixed, the more fluid, the last one and the others. It is almost as an identity, a conceptual model based on a contrast for the bank and for the use of credit in public. The role of human beings and objects in this model is a social model. But it is how they are organized in the "social order" which constitutes the legal framework of economy in this direction.

The factors of the structural equation, the latent variables, are indicators and are represented here as rectangles. The arrows represent the hypothesized causal relationships. The first arrow shows that the indicator response scores are the "observed" scores. The second arrow shows that latent factor loading development directly and linearly to the indicator measurement outcomes. The third arrow indicates that the latent variable is measured by the indicator scores.¹ A fourth arrow is the error term in the measurement model (also called the error term in SEM). The error term is an unobserved variable that acts to change the observed factor loadings from the latent to the observed.

There were two things you did as "hot stuff": Based on security analysis, National was selected to supply these rifles and the same kind was chosen. One thing to remember is the more you buy, the more volume of inventory, and it's difficult, contrary to what I tell the media, to make it the money by supplying without your customers. I got into the business by convincing the big bank, some army force, the private club in Western Europe, Africa, the Middle East, China, the Asian market, then the American and the European.
