Sharpley-Whiting, 1997-08-29 Women of color remain arguably the most economically politically and socially marginalized group in the United States and the Third World In Spoils of War a diverse group of distinguished contributors suggest that acts of aggression resulting from the racism and sexism inherent in social institutions can be viewed as a sort of war experienced daily by women of color Frantz Fanon Anthony C. Vigil, 2014-07-10 War Echoes examines how Latina/o cultural production has engaged with U.S. militarism in the post-Viet Nam era Analyzing literature alongside film memoir and activism Ariana E. Vigil highlights the productive interplay among social political and cultural movements while exploring Latina/o responses to U.S. intervention in Central America and the Middle East These responses evolved over the course of the late twentieth and early twenty-first centuries from support for anti-imperial war as seen in Alejandro Murguía's Southern Front to the disavowal of all war articulated in works such as Demetria Martinez's Mother Tongue and Camilo Mejía's Road from Ar Ramadi With a focus on how issues of race class gender and sexuality intersect and are impacted by war and militarization War Echoes illustrates how this country's bellicose foreign policies have played an integral part in shaping U.S. Latina/o culture and identity and given rise to the creation of works that recognize how militarized violence and values such as patriarchy hierarchy and obedience are both enacted in domestic spheres and propagated abroad Interventions E. Castelli, J.

Jakobsen, 2004-11-26 This collection brings together top scholars to discuss the significance of violence from a global perspective and the intersections between the global structures of violence and more localized and intimate forms of violence Activists and academics consider questions such as are there situations in which violence should be politically supported Are non-violent or anti-war movements in the US able to effectively respond to violence Do we need to rethink our understanding of both religion and secularism in light of the current world situation Have new paradigms been developed in response to violence The essays in this collection offer inclusive analysis of particular situations and creative alternatives to the omnipresence of violence Speaking Chicana D. who Speak for Peace Colleen E. Kelley, Anna L. Eblen, 2002 How do women talk about peace and violence What moves ordinary women into extraordinary activism This book profiles ten influential women activists relating their experiences and rhetorically analyzing their public communication in and about their efforts for peace Authors also employ feminist theory to gauge the effectiveness of each activist from Americans Ida B Wells and Jane Addams to those still speaking for peace such as Liberia s Ruth Perry and the former Burma s Aung San Suu Kyi Visit our website for sample chapters The Woman in the Muslin Mask Daphne Grace, 2004-02-20 Western feminists have in the past singled out the veiling of women as a potent symbol of women s oppression under Islam Daphne Grace explores the far more complex and contested role of veiling over the last 120 years Looking at the ways in which the veil is used in literature and its representations in writing from the East and the West she shows how veiling has come to stand for both oppression and resistance Grace asks why at the start of the new millennium veiling seems more popular than ever and explores what veiling means for the women themselves Chapters are arranged geographically and chronologically beginning with the imperial gaze of Victorian England moving to the Arab Islamic world of the Middle East and the Maghreb and finally to India in the process exploring the nationalist religious political and cultural meanings of the veil in its many manifestations then and now Women, War, Violence and
