

HISTORY OF HOME ECONOMICS

Catherine Beecher

1800-1878

1841: The Treatise on Domestic Economy for the use of Young Ladies at Home

Catherine Beecher was one of the earliest advocates for home economics education. Her book helped give standardized procedures to women in how to conduct the home. This was just the beginning, a turning point, in recognizing the importance of educating young girls and women about the home.

1872: Public School Act

This occurred in British Columbia a year after the province entered confederation. The Public School Act allowed schools to be funded by provincial revenues and helped to establish school districts.

The goal of this Act was to permit every child to gain knowledge to become a useful and intelligent citizen (Education in Early British Columbia, n.d.)

1842-1911

Ellen Swallow Richards

1893: Rumford Kitchen

The World's Fair took place in Chicago and Ellen Swallow Richards was invited to cook within the Women's building but she was adamant that her work was meant for men and women and thus created the Rumford Kitchen and the World's Fair (1893, n.d.).

The building that became the Rumford Kitchen!

Lake Placid Conferences

1899-1909

These were a series of ten conferences between 1899-1909, where Home Economics emerged as a discipline (History of Home Economics, n.d.). It was here that the leaders and advocates in the field discussed advances in home economics and developed the guiding principles of what home economics was and should be (Matheson, 1987).

Participants at the first Lake Placid Conference. Annie Dewey, Maria Damsell, Ellen Swallow Richards, Alice Peloubet Norton and Maria Parloa

1903

Home Economics in BC & the Macdonald Institute

The Macdonald Institute (MIENS) was co-founded by (Macdonald Institute (MIENS), n.d.). It opened in 1903 for instruction of women in the fields of manual training and the domestic sciences and arts (Macdonald Institute (MIENS), n.d.). It was the first home economics school in North America (Macdonald Institute (MIENS), n.d.).

The Macdonald Institute

Manitoba Home Economics Association

1911

Edith Knowles Simpson helped to found the Saskatchewan Home Economics Association

The Manitoba Association of Home Economics Association (MAHE) met to discuss issues and social concerns like food laws (Organizations, n.d.). Their objectives were to promote the family, community and a standard of home economics professionalism (Organizations, n.d.).

World War One in Europe

1914-1918

As battle commenced across Europe, life for women changed drastically. Not only did women continue to fulfill their roles in the homes, but many women also began taking jobs to fill the roles of men who went to battle (Women's roles on the home front, n.d.).

Propaganda poster directed at women during WWI

The Pill

1960-1970

- With the introduction of the birth control pill in the early '60's women gained more control of their lives.
- Specifically, they were no longer bearing and then caring for large families except by choice.
- Women had more time for careers.

First first oral contraceptive pills.

2006

BCTF Teacher Shortage

- The alert noted that there was a shortage of Home Economics teachers and that there were full-time positions that were impossible to fill. This shortage of teachers is showing the importance of Home Economics and that Home Economics class numbers are on the rise.

- This was confirmed by the BC Public School Employers Association (BCPSEA) report that indicated that there was not a shortage of teachers in general. There had been a temporary surge in retirement as the average age of teachers peaked in 2004-2005. As stated in the report the average age of teachers was expected to decline in the near future (Is there a teacher shortage, 2016).

The History Of Home Economics At The University Of Georgia:

The History of Home Economics at the University of Georgia University of Georgia. College of Home Economics, 1985* A History of Home Economics at Georgia State College for Women from 1891 Through 1943 ... Mary Beth Barnett Lewis, 1943 Through the Arch Larry B. Dendy, 2013 Through the Arch captures UGA's colorful past dynamic present and promising future in a novel way by surveying its buildings structures and spaces These physical features are the university's most visible and some of its most valuable resources Yet they are largely overlooked or treated only passing in histories and standard publications about UGA Through text and photographs this book places buildings and spaces in the context of UGA's development over more than 225 years After opening with a brief historical overview of the university the book profiles over 140 buildings landmarks and spaces their history appearance and past and current usage as well as their namesake beginning with the oldest structures on North Campus and progressing to the newest facilities on South and East Campus and the emerging Northwest Quadrant Many profiles are supplemented with sidebars relating traditions lore facts or alumni recollections associated with buildings and spaces More than just landmarks or static elements of infrastructure buildings and spaces embody the university's values cultural heritage and educational purpose These facilities many more than a century old are where students learn explore and grow and where faculty teach research and create They harbor the university's history and traditions protect its treasures and hold memories for alumni The repository for books documents artifacts and tools that contain and convey much of the accumulated knowledge and wisdom of human existence these structures are the legacy of generations And they are tangible symbols of UGA's commitment to improve our world through education Guide includes 113 color photos throughout 19 black and white historical photos Over 140 profiles of buildings landmarks and spaces Supplemental sidebars with traditions lore facts and alumni anecdotes 6 maps A Pictorial History of the University of Georgia F. N. Boney, 2000 First published during the school's bicentennial A Pictorial History of the University of Georgia has now been revised and expanded to include a new updated section and 43 new photographs that portray the university's most recent growth and development More than 300 illustrations and photographs accompany the story of pivotal events and the details of student life from the first classes held on the Georgia frontier in 1801 through the impact of the Civil War and Reconstruction the admission of women in 1918 and the construction of a new east campus This new edition features an in depth chronicle of the University of Georgia's rapid growth during the past decade and describes the effects of the expansion of the student body and faculty the burgeoning athletic program and its new emphasis on women's sports and the administrations of Charles Knapp and Michael Adams From landmark changes to little known events and curious facts A Pictorial History of the University of Georgia presents a complete portrait of the school that blends educational innovation and cultural diversity with long standing traditions Announcement of the University of Georgia University of Georgia, 1915 The Journal of Home Economics , 1925 A History of Feminist and Gender

Economics Giandomenica Becchio, 2019-10-30 This book offers a historical exploration of the genesis of feminist economics and gender economics as well as their theoretical and methodological differences Its narrative also serves to embed both within a broader cultural context Although both feminist economics and gender neoclassical economics belong to the cultural process related to the central role of the political economy in promoting women s emancipation and empowerment they differ in many aspects Feminist economics mainly influenced by women s studies and feminism rejected neoclassical economics while gender neoclassical economics mainly influenced by home economics and the new home economics adopted the neoclassical economics approach to gender issues The book includes diverse case studies which also highlight the continuity between the story of women s emancipation and the more recent developments of feminist and gender studies This volume will be of great interest to researchers and academia in the fields of feminist economics gender studies and the history of economic thought The Routledge Companion to Marketing and Feminism Pauline Maclaran, Lorna Stevens, Olga

Kravets, 2022-02-25 This comprehensive and authoritative sourcebook offers academics researchers and students an introduction to and overview of current scholarship at the intersection of marketing and feminism In the last five years there has been a resurrection of feminist voices in marketing and consumer research This mirrors a wider public interest in feminism particularly in the media as well as the academy with younger women discovering that patriarchal structures and strictures still limit women s development and life opportunities The F word is back on the agenda made high profile by campaigns such as MeToo and TimesUp There is a noticeably renewed interest in feminist scholarship especially amongst younger scholars and significantly insightful interdisciplinary critiques of this new brand of feminism including the identification of a neoliberal feminism that urges professional women to achieve a work family balance on the back of other women s exploitation Consolidating existing scholarship while exploring emerging theories and ideas which will generate further feminist research this volume will be of interest to researchers academics and students in marketing and consumption studies especially those studying or researching the complex inter relationship of feminism and marketing

Statistics of Land-grant Colleges and Universities United States. Office of Education, 1962 The Origins of Federal Support for Higher Education Roger L. Williams, 1991-04-15 The Origins of Federal Support for Higher Education revises the traditional interpretation of the land grant college movement whose institutions were brought into being by the 1862 Morrill Act to provide for the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes Rather than being the inevitable consequence of the unfolding dynamic of institutional and socioeconomic forces Williams argues it was the active intervention and initiative of a handful of educational leaders that secured the colleges future above all the activities of George W Atherton For nearly three decades Atherton who was the seventh president of the Pennsylvania State University worked to secure consistent federal financial support for the colleges which in their early years received little assistance from the states they were designed to benefit He also helped to develop the institutions as comprehensive national universities grounded in the liberal arts and sciences a conception that countered the prevailing view of the colleges as mainly agricultural schools Atherton became the prime mover in the campaign to enact the 1887 Hatch Act which encouraged the establishment of agricultural experiment stations at land grant colleges The act marked the federal government's first effort to provide continuous funding to research units associated with higher education institutions At the same time Atherton played a key role in the formation of the first association of such institutions The Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations It was the Association that provided the critical mass needed to lobby Congress successively and to approach the many opportunities and threats the land grant colleges faced during the 1885-1906 period Atherton was also deeply involved in the campaign for the Morrill Act of 1890 which provided long sought annual appropriations to land grant colleges for a broad range of academic programs and encouraged steady growth in state support during the 1890s Roger Williams traces the motives and tactics behind a series of laws that made the federal government irreversibly committed to funding higher education and scientific research and provides rich new insights into the complexities polarities and inherent contradictions of the history of the American land grant movement
