
Foreword

In July 2002 the President approved the National Strategy for Homeland Security, establishing a road map for the national effort to prevent and respond to acts of terrorism in the United States. The National Strategy recognizes the vital role of state and local public safety agencies in providing for the security of our homeland. In February 2003 the President signed into law the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003, Public Law 108-7 which provides state and local governments with the vital funding they require to participate in the national effort to combat terrorism. In April 2003 the Emergency Wartime Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2003 provided additional funds to expand and continue these efforts.

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS), Office for Domestic Preparedness (ODP) FY 2003 Urban Areas Security Initiative (UASI) reflects the intent of Congress and the Administration to enhance and quantify the preparedness of the nation to combat terrorism. Whereas most states and municipalities have strengthened their overall capability to respond to acts of terrorism involving chemical, biological, radiological, nuclear or explosive (CBRNE) weapons, there continues to be room for improvement in meeting our national priorities of preventing and responding to terrorist attacks.

The Office for Domestic Preparedness is providing financial assistance to selected urban areas through the FY 2003 Urban Areas Security Initiative. Seven selected urban areas will be provided direct funding from the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003, and thirty selected urban areas will be provided funding through their respective States from the Emergency Wartime Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2003. The UASI Grant Programs I and II are being provided to address the unique equipment, training, planning, and exercise needs of large high threat urban areas, and program activities must involve coordination by the identified core city, core county/counties, and the respective State Administrative Agency. The funding will provide assistance to build an enhanced and sustainable capacity to prevent, respond to, and recover from threats or acts of terrorism for the selected urban areas.

The Department of Homeland Security looks forward to working with all of you in this critical national effort to secure our homeland.
